Berlin Is Quiet As Banks Are Reopened For Business

ELOPEMENT IS SEQUEL TO ROMANCE

Forsaking a brilliant society wedding for an elopement, Edwina Tripplett Putnam, of San Diego, Calif., eloped with Lieut. William V. Deutermann, U. S. N. The couple had made preparations for a brilliant wedding on last Friday, but when Lieut. Deutermann failed to appear for a rehearsal, intimations were made that the ceremony would not be performed. Yesterday, they surprised their friends by slipping away and being married by a navy chaplain. They are now preparing to leave for Annapolis where Lieut. Deutermann has been assigned. The bride is the daughter of Lieut. Col. Russel B. Putnam.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Kaylor, which is on the other end of the Western Allegheny Railroad which has one terminal at East New Castle, can certainly show most small places something in the way of community playgrounds. The children of that little place are well provided for at a playground, which is well equipped and a thing of beauty.

Cook's forest is gradually taking on the appearance of a state park. Roads are being improved, the trails are laid out and marked, shelter houses have been provided, the spring water has been piped around, and springs walled in, and when the day arrives that there is an improved road all the way into the forest, this will be one of the greatest attractions in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Wire Lasso Kills Charleroi Youth

Youngster Strangles Self To Death With Wire Lasso In Basement Of Home

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Pa., July 16.—The wire rope lasso with which 15-year-old John Rach practiced rodeo rope throwing became a death noose for him in the cellar of his home, parents of the boy revealed today.

John's mother found him sprawled across a water trap on the cellar floor, strangled to death by the piece of rope.

Last night, while other members of the family went swimming, John took an old piece of extension wire and descended to the basement of the house to perfect some new tricks which he had learned at camp.

The wire rope apparently became caught on the sewer and the loose end entwined about the boy's neck, hurling him forward on the floor to his death.

German Banks Are Open Again; Business Calm

Police On Guard At Big Berlin Banks Are Not Needed

EMERGENCY DECREES ARE NOW IN EFFECT

Foreign Minister To Meet At London Monday To Consider Conditions

BY WALTER DIETZEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 16.—Germany's banks which were closed by the government two days ago to avert a panic, reopened as usual at 9 a. m. today.

Police were on guard at all the big Berlin banks, but their presence was hardly necessary. Business went forward as if nothing untoward had happened to threaten the credit of Germany.

At the main postoffice 100 persons quietly waited several hours for the opening of the money order department.

Usual Number of Rioters

The usual number of rioters nursed bruised heads today in hospitals of cities throughout Germany as the result of the nightly outbreaks between Communists and Hitlerites. Hundreds were placed under arrest in Berlin last night, following sporadic raids on grocery stores.

Outbreaks were reported also in Leipzig, Darsmstadt and Karlsruhe. There were no casualties but the police used night sticks and blank cartridges freely.

The Hindenburg line of economic defense was holding firm as the banks reopened today. The return of the aged soldier president from his summer residence in East Prussia served to restore confidence of the populace in the government.

Upon his arrival the president signed further emergency decrees giving additional powers to the cabinet to control banks, foreign exchange and security markets.

Emergency Decrees

The emergency decrees went into effect at midnight. Their chief features were as follows:

1. Declaration of a partial moratorium to last for the rest of the

Akron Woman Shoots Self To Death When Neighbors Investigate Tragedy

KILLS HUSBAND IN GARAGE OF HOME

Recent Illness Suffered By Woman Slayer Caused Derangement Is Belief

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., July 16.—Police today expressed the belief that mental derangement resulting from a recent illness led Mrs. Sarah Gorman, 40, to kill her husband, William, 41, Cleveland physician and sportsman, in the garage adjoining their home at West Richfield, near here, and then take her own life.

While the partly-clad body of her husband lay dead on the garage floor, Mrs. Gorman returned to their house and brooded most of the day concerning her own contemplated death. Her indecision was broken by the appearance of several neighbors who came to investigate a "death note" sent to a Richfield undertaking establishment.

First inkling of the bizarre tragedy came with the delivery of the note to the undertaker in which Mrs. Gorman requested that the bodies be cremated. Mrs. D. C. Snyder, the postmistress, and neigh-

Three Other Women Seek Look At New Husband Acquired By Aimee's "Ma"

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—Mrs. Minnie Kennedy Hudson and her new husband, Rev. G. Edward Hudson together today faced three other women who wonder if Rev. Hudson is the same man they once knew as lover and husband.

Mrs. Guy Edward Hudson of Colorado and Mrs. Margaret Newton Hudson, of Los Angeles, began a search for the honeymooners in the belief that Hudson is the man they once called husband.

Mrs. Ethel Harbert, Los Angeles, identified photographs of Rev. Hudson as the man she nearly married in January 1929. The license was procured but never used.

When "ma" heard these reports she announced: "I have been a good sweetheart and I am going to be a good fighter for the man I love". They were 100 miles away trying to find some place where they wouldn't be disturbed.

"I'm bringing him back with me," she said, and we're going into this matter together to find out what all the shooting is about. We'll see about these other Mrs. Hudsons.

Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist daughter of "ma" expressed unconcern at the whole affair.

Two Chicago Men Shot And Killed

Gang Warfare Spreads As Two Are "Put On Spot" In Chicago Saloon

SUSPECT SEIZED BY POLICEMEN

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 16.—Gang warfare spread to the suburbs today when two men were shot and killed in Forest Park in what police termed another battle for control of the Teamsters' Union.

The victims were L. S. Murphy, business agent for one of the unions, and Frank Davis, 55. Both had Chicago police records.

With a dozen other patrons they were in a saloon when the gun crew stalked in with the command: "Stick 'em up!" But it wasn't a robbery. Walking directly toward Murphy and Davis the killers fired with a snub-nosed shotgun and an automatic pistol and the two dropped in their tracks, although neither was killed outright.

There was no pursuit, those in the saloon heeding the warning to "stay where you are and keep your traps shut!"

Edward McFadden, Jr., was seized by police for questioning as he sped away after dumping Davis on hospital steps.

WILL ROGERS says:

CHELSEA, Okla., July 16.—Around big cities nowadays you read of nothing but the plight of Germany and how their finances can be saved. But when you get out here in the agricultural region you read of what's happening at home.

Another drought looks like it's going to kill off the corn crop. Oats 15 cents a bushel. If food is not cheaper than it ever was then somebody is making money and it ain't the farmer.

He can't abandon the farm. He ain't got enough to move to town on. Some of our optimistic after-dinner financiers of the east ought to try making a living and those speeches on 35 cents a bushel wheat.

The two prime components of a champion are nerve and skill so one can be reasonably sure that the little diver shown above has already planted her baby feet on the road to aquatic stardom. She is Peggy Rawls, three year old water baby, caught by the camera as she made a dive from the ten foot board at the Wykagyll Country Club pool, New Rochelle, N. Y. Her sister Katherine Rawls, who is preparing for the 1931 A. A. U. championships at the Bronx Beach Pool, is on hand with some expert advice, but Peggy seems to get along quite well by herself.

May Change Plan Of Naming School Teachers

Following a somewhat lengthy discussion Wednesday evening by the members of the New Castle school board, President Daniel B. Woolcock was authorized to appoint a committee of three to investigate the method of selecting teachers in the school system, and to ascertain whether or not it would be an aid to have a permanent committee of the board serve in conjunction with the superintendent in the selecting of teachers in the future.

"To confine the authority for the selection of teachers to one man is not fair to him or the board," said Mr. McIlvenny. "With the large number of applications we always have, and the necessity of thorough investigation of applicants, there is bound to be some disappointment and some criticism. If there is criticism the board should be equally liable with the superintendent. Further, we should know before time for election who the applicants are, what their qualifications are and what thair training calls for."

A general discussion followed the remarks of Mr. McIlvenny. Mrs.

There's a spot on a creek not so far away, where the bushes are thick and dense, and you get to the spot by roaming through fields, and climbing across a fence. And you wouldn't know it was there at all, unless you had been before, and heard the lilt of the babbling brook and learned of the woodsy lore. There's a swimming pool that is not so large, and it isn't so deep I know, but gosh on a day when it's eighty nine it's the place I would like to go. You don't need suits if you want to swim, you swim in your birthday clothes, there are youngsters there with sealskin backs, and all have a sunburned nose. It's a spot I love, on that hidden creek, but I wont get there yet awhile, for Lady Work has her hand on me, and she becks with insistent smile.

London Begins To Feel German Crisis

FIRST PAGE
By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 16.—The city of London has begun to feel the effects of the financial crisis in Germany.

To meet the heavy demands of French and Belgian banks on its gold supplies, it was expected that the Bank of England might raise its rediscount rate today. European countries, especially France, still have huge balances deposited in London, and if they continue to withdraw funds the strain on the sterling exchange rate will be severe.

All eyes were turned today on Monday's conference of ministers of the leading European powers. This conference was called yesterday by the British government when it became evident that further international steps would have to be taken to meet the crisis in Germany.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, who is now in Paris conferring with French cabinet ministers and Colonel Stimson, the American secretary of state, will be in Berlin over the week-end. They will return the visit to Chequers recently of Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius, the German foreign minister.

The English cabinet ministers will fly from Berlin to arrive in London in time for the opening of the conference Monday afternoon. The government expressed hope that Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Briand would be able to attend.

The conference of experts, which will settle questions raised by the Hoover moratorium, will meet in London tomorrow.

Believe Arrest To End Scheme

Police Say Youngstown Man Worked C. O. D. Scheme On Merchants

ARREST FOLLOWS HIS VISIT HERE

In the arrest late Wednesday afternoon by the Youngstown police authorities of George Miller, aged 35, of Averdale avenue, Youngstown, at the request of the New Castle police authorities, solution of the practice of ordering articles "C. O. D." from merchants in this city and taking these articles while keeping the delivery attendant waiting, has been solved, it is believed. According to the local police, the practice is not believed to have been confined to this district alone, but to have been in operation in a large area.

Sergeant James P. Steiner received a call about four o'clock Wednesday afternoon from Sears-Roebuck Company, to the effect that there had been a man there attempting the C. O. D. delivery of some tires. The license of the man's car, issued in Ohio, had been secured.

Sergeant Steiner at once got in touch with the Youngstown Motor Club and secured the name and address of the owner of the license. This was in turn given to the Youngstown police with the request that the driver of the car be arrested. This was done shortly after six o'clock as he was driving into Youngstown. Later in the evening Miller was brought back here by Lieutenant of Police Peter Hillers, Detective John Young and Officer Clarence Samuels.

He is being held in the city jail and a charge of the larceny of a radio has been made against him by John Baer before Alderman William E. Marshall. Other charges will be made by Chief C. C. Horner.

Some months ago a man appeared at the place of Baer, purchased a radio, presumably for his sick mother, and accompanied the salesman to the North Mercer street address to deliver the machine. Stating that he desired to surprise his mother, he carried the machine presumably to the rear door, asking the salesman to come in later. Instead of going in, the man apparently carried the radio to a waiting car on Falls street or that vicinity and drove away with it. He made attempts several places here yesterday to get tires delivered.

In his machine when captured he had a pair of canvas golf shoes, some golf balls, a slip-on and a coat sweater, two tires and two canvas golf bags. The tires were identified as the property of the Buick garage, where he allegedly attempted his scheme yesterday among other places. He has been identified as the man who secured the radio at the Baer place. He was using a Packard coupe bearing Ohio license 776-293, which is said to be his own property.

miles west of Vienna and is on a direct line to Budapest.

The report of their sighting said the plane was travelling eastward at a fast pace.

London, July 16.—The Justice for Hungary, plane in which Captains Magyar and Endres are attempting a non-stop flight from Newfoundland to Budapest was sighted today near Lands End, Eng., by the steamer Honduras, according to a wireless message received here from the captain of the steamer.

The plane was flying eastward at a fast rate.

Indicates Success

Lands End, England, July 16.—Indications the fourteenth successful non-stop crossing of the North Atlantic by a heavier-than-air machine, the United Fruit liner Maya reported by wireless today it had sighted the plane of Captains George Endres and Alexander Magyar off Lands End at 7:40 a. m. G. M. T. (3:40 a. m. E. D. T.)

The plane's exact position was not given. British aviation officials expected momentarily to hear of the plane's sighting over England.

Endres and Magyar, flying a plane christened "Justice For Hungary", took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 12:18 p. m. E. D. T. yesterday on an attempted nonstop flight to Budapest. They hoped to reach the Hungarian capital within 26 hours of the take-off.

Lands End is the extreme westerly point of England. The Maya reported the plane was flying swiftly eastward.

Brest, France, July 16. — The trans-Atlantic plane "Justice For Hungary," was sighted shortly before 8 a. m. G. M. T. today at a point 49.25 north, 7.5 west, according to a message picked up by the Unshant wireless station. The position is just off Lands End, England.

Young People Hear Dr. Tolley

President Of Allegheny College Speaks At Epworth Church

Young people from many points of Lawrence County joined with the young people of Epworth M. E. Church Wednesday evening in the closing service of the week of dedication of the new church. It was an inspirational meeting, one conducted and attended by young people, one that was entirely different from any other meeting in a series of successful gatherings.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. William T. Tolley, president of Allegheny College. Dr. Tolley is a young man, one of the youngest college presidents in the country, and his address was just such a one as could be expected from a man who has gone so far so early in life. He spoke on "Jesus Christ In The Modern World."

Prayer was offered by Dr. John Regester, a former member of Epworth Church and Rev. Wilbur Flannery presided. During the course of the evening, Dr. W. A. Womer interrupted the schedule of events long enough to present the church chorister, Chester P. Reynolds, with a handsome baton, the gift of the choir and music committee of First Methodist Church.

Special music was furnished during the evening by Miss Charlotte Andrews, a member of Epworth who has just graduated from the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. This was her first public appearance since graduation and her mastery of the piano was a delight to her audience.

Young people's Night at Epworth was well worth while. It provided the opportunity for the young people it demonstrate their ability in program building and was an indication that the future of the church is safe with young men and women of this calibre taking an interest in the church activities.

The first woman minister in this country, the Rev. Antoinette Brown, was ordained in 1853.

are not able to obtain revenue sufficient to maintain their credit," he said.

"Their net earnings are fast approaching the point where they may be insufficient to meet the relationship to fixed charges that has become generally established and recognized as an investment standard."

Pelley asserted that if earnings fall below this standard many railroad securities, because of various state legal requirements, can no longer be disposed of to savings banks and insurance companies, thus seriously limiting the market for railway securities.

Revenue Needed.

Furthermore, he added, the earnings of the railroads are now such that they are unable to maintain their normal capital and maintenance expenditures. The curtailment of the purchasing power of the railroads has, in his judgment, a strong influence in retarding the recovery of business.

"The railroads," he said, "are proposing only such increase in their freight rates as, under their best estimate, will produce sufficient revenue to tide them over the present emergency. They do not ask for the fair return to which they are lawfully entitled, but base their application solely on the ground that without the increase in revenue they now seek, they will be unable long to continue adequate transportation service.

"No one had any idea that the depression would last as long or be as severe as later developments have proved. Every one hoped it would not be widespread, and would not be of long duration. The railroads acted on the assumption that such would be the case."

Must Be Prepared.

Pelley said in the face of decreasing traffic and revenues the railroads continued, as far as possible. Their program of expenditures which involved both capital and maintenance. They likewise continued in service as long as possible many employees who could otherwise have been laid off, in view of the volume of business which was offered for transportation.

He said no one could predict with any degree of assurance when a definite upturn in business will begin, or the rate of progress which improvement will make when it starts.

"When business does revive, the railroads must, under the law, and in fairness to the public and themselves, be ready to handle all traffic in the efficient manner to which the country has become accustomed," he declared.

Table Exhibited.

Roy Kern, a coal rate expert, explained the railroads proposal to increase all lake cargo coal rates by 15 per cent of $1.71, the weighted average rate, or 26 cents per net ton. The handling charge applicable for the service of dumping lake cargo coal from cars to vessels of eight cents will be advanced a straight 15 per cent, or one cent per net ton, he said.

He exhibited a table of lake cargo shipments during 1930, which showed a total of 36,839,923 tons for all the districts participating in the lake cargo traffic. The revenue accruing to the railroads from these shipments was $63,029,317.

PARIS, July 16.—Col. Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state, conferred for more than two hours today with French and British officials at the ministry of the interior.

Premier Pierre Laval, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, minister of Finance Flandin, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Britain and Lord Tyrell, British Ambassador to Paris, were present at the session.

An official communique issued after the adjournment stated that "yesterday's conversations concerning the gravity of the financial situation in Germany" were continued.

Premier Laval admitted the conversations were "helping to clarify" the situation. He was silent, however, concerning a report that Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Dr. Jilius Curtius of Germany would visit Paris tomorrow.

The cabinet was scheduled to meet this afternoon to discuss the situation.

Mrs. Gorman's marriage garments were carefully laid out in the cellar with a penned request that they be used in the burial. Nearby were the couple's birth and marriage certificates.

Police were at a loss to explain the tragedy. Dr. M. B. Crafts, Summit county coroner, said Dr. Gorman had evidently attempted to flee from his wife's attack and was shot in the garage.

week. Banks were permitted to reopen but mainly to pay out money to be used for payrolls, taxes and redemption of bills of exchange. Only small withdrawals may be made by depositors.

2. The Reichsbank's rediscount rate was raised from seven to ten per cent and its Lombard rate against collateral loans raised to fifteen per cent.

3. The gold coverage of the country's currency was reduced from forty to thirty percent.

Under this last clause, the Reichsbank will be permitted to issue ten percent paper currency, until it has replenished its reserves. While this was an inflationary measure, it was pointed out that before the war the legal gold coverage of German currency was only thirty three percent.

In addition the government published a decree strictly prohibiting quotations on foreign exchange outside of those issued by authorized exchanges. This was designed to prevent "bootleg" sales of foreign currency.

This measure also was extended to apply to zinc, copper, tin and wheat futures.

Foreign exchange, under the decree, may be purchased in Germany only through the Reichsbank.

The cabinet rejected a proposal to declare a partial moratorium on foreign debts on the ground that it would damage German credit abroad.

Following publication of the decrees, banks increased the rate of interest on sums due them to thirteen percent and raised the rate on incoming deposits to nine percent.

Ministers To Meet

London, July 16.—With a thorough discussion of the entire debts and reparations problem by all the nations concerned in prospect, an extraordinary meeting of ministers will be held in London on Monday evening, it was officially announced today.

Invitations have been extended to the governments of the United States, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium to participate in the conference, which is expected to supersede the projected conference of economic experts which was to have assembled shortly to discuss the Young plan.

Berlin, July 16.—A report that Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Dr. Julius Curtius would leave Berlin for Paris tonight for a conference with French officials on the German economic crisis was officially denied by a spokesman at the Chancellor's office today.

The spokesman refused to confirm or deny a persistent report that an invitation for such a conference had been extended by France and received at the Wilhelmstrasse.

Riga, Latvia, July 16.—As the result of heavy runs on Latvian banks due to the situation in Germany, the Latvian government ordered all banks today to restrict payments to five percent in case depositors asked for more than two hundred lats (about $40.)

Savings banks were ordered to limit payments to fifty lats weekly.

London, July 16.—The British government announced officially this afternoon that the projected visit of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson to Berlin, scheduled for this week-end, has been cancelled.

The cancellation followed an invitation extended by Prmier MacDonald to the principal statesman of Europe to an extraordinary conference of ministers to be held in London on Monday evening.

The visit to Berlin was arranged several weeks ago, more or less as a courtesy call in exchange for the recent trip made to England by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany.

CONTRACT IS LET FOR REPAIRS TO CONCRETE BRIDGE

South Mill street bridges. The sidewalks will be kept open for pedestrians, and street cars will be allowed to run.

Burns and Ferry expect to begin work on the bridge within a few days. The time is propitious as the creek is at a low level.

The bridge is said to have sunk several inches in the center. It is believed the removal of the Rosena dam had had something to do with the sinking, as it lowered the backwater around the pier, and caused the stream to wash against it, thus wearing away some of the concrete.

Buchanan Heirs Dream Vanishes

Instigator Of Movement To Collect Estate For Heirs Ends Efforts

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Tex., July 16.—The dreams of more than 1,000 persons who had hoped to inherit a fortune each from an estate supposed to be worth in excess of $850,000,000 were at least temporarily shattered today.

L. D. Buchanan, Houston grocer, who for years has been communicating with descendants from the family of former President James Buchanan, telling them the estate exists and outlining his plans to reclaim it, said today he had ceased all operations in connection with it.

He announced several months ago that he was about to institute court action to claim the estate and that it would be converted to cash and divided among some 1,000 heirs he had traced down. The estate, he said, was composed of valuable property in eight states, some of it in the heart of large cities. The properties, he said, were leased by the Buchanan family more than 100 years ago for 99-year terms and that it now was reverting to the original owners, as the leases had expired.

After an interview yesterday with postal inspectors Buchanan signed a statement asking the Post Office Department to mark all his mail "refused" and to announce that he had ceased all operations in connection with the supposed estate.

PET DOGS WIN OWN CASE
(International News Service)

Berlin.—Two nice little badger-dogs appeared as defendants before a Berlin court. Angry neighbors of their master, a well-known Berlin broker, had them summoned for disturbing peaceful people's sleep by indecently loud barking. Both pets were placed on the judge's desk while the complaint was read. They seemed to understand what was going on, and pricked up their ears. But they behaved so well that the judge could not help dismissing the case for lack of evidence.

A most enjoyable program was given at The Patterson School of Music Wednesday evening by Miss Virginia Mabel Flynn, pianist, of New Castle and Miss Erma Blythe Herbert, soprano of Wampum.

NEARLY 1,000 MUNICIPALITIES ADOPT ZONING

THE 77 municipalities that adopted zoning ordinances for the first time in 1930 brings the total number of zoned municipalities in the United States to 981 comprising a total population of over 46,000,000 people. While zoning authority extending at least to some municipalities has been granted in all states, additional zoning legislation was enacted in Kentucky, New Jersey, and Virginia, at the 1930 legislative sessions and other minor zoning laws were enacted during the year in other states.

The 46,000,000 people living in these zoned municipalities equal more than 67 per cent of the total urban population of the United States, and all of the 981 municipalities have adopted their ordinances during the last 15 years, according to the latter report.

One of the interesting and significant recent developments in the field of zoning is the fact that the smaller communities of the country are turning to zoning, according to James S. Taylor, chief of the U. S. division of building and housing. Seventy of the 77 original ordinances adopted during 1930 were in municipalities whose population is less than 40,000. This is a recognition, Mr. Taylor said, that the environment for work, play, and pleasant home life, may be improved through the preventing of hurtful invasions into the various zoning districts by incompatible uses. These invasions may be as detrimental to the small community as to the large city. Mr. Taylor also referred to the fact that the ratio of population to the number of zoned municipalities is smaller than in the early years of zoning due to the trend of zoning to the small places.

Another significant development, and one that contains many possibilities for improved enjoyment of the outdoors, is the enactment of zoning ordinances by townships in several states. Through this adaptation of zoning the control of land uses is applied to larger areas of more or less open development. Among other things it offers a valuable means of improving roadside conditions. It has largely been applied in resort and suburban areas but it is equally applicable elsewhere. Zoning regulation will eventually become state wide, it is believed.

The greatest activity in zoning during 1930 was among the municipalities of New Jersey, while those of New York state, California, Ohio, and Massachusetts followed in the order named. In addition zoning ordinances were amended or adopted in 32 other states.

New Castle was one of the leaders in the zoning movement, and has reaped benefits along this line that cities which delayed accepting zoning forfeited.

There will be no surrender of zoning here, but the inclination is to make the plan even more extensive than at present.

ABOLISHING DEGREES

Criticism of the American scholastic system is easy, although the remedy is hard to find. Colleges and universities are functioning today probably as efficiently as ever, the difference between present and past being in the public's idea of what should be expected of them.

It must be remembered that the United States only recently cast aside its swaddling clothes and that in an infant country higher education, or the need for higher education, is not a pressing matter. Now, however, conditions are different, and educators see that their structure is not perfect and are casting about for a remedy.

This is a healthy sign. The more thought expended upon the subject, the sooner the new university will arise. Blind copying of European institutions and methods will not suffice, for American problems, ideals, aims and ideas have little in common with those of foreign countries.

The stage is set for reform, and the day is not far distant when the American college will undergo its metamorphosis. Already it is demanded of college students that they do more original research, independent thinking and unsupervised study. Several institutions are contemplating abolition of the old system of grades and credits, that the student may work for intellectual attainment rather than for class promotion, credits and degrees. For the old system would be substituted a comprehensive final examination that would bring out the student's accumulated knowledge and attitude on intellectual matters.

College training is beneficial to the least studious and the most poorly equipped mentally, but the fact that no superior mentality nor great application is required to complete a college course and obtain a degree would indicate that their institutional contribution to education is limited.

COMMON SENSE FOR SWIMMERS

The number of drownings this summer is appalling. With thousands of persons, old and young, seeking relief from the heat in the water at bathing beaches and swimming pools, the drowning total mounts rapidly. Most of the drowning loss, according to the American Red Cross, can be traced directly to carelessness. That great life-saving organization issues a few rules which, if observed, should prevent many needless deaths in the water.

It urges parents to keep their children near them while they are in swimming. It reminds swimmers not to dive in strange water, not to swim alone, not to swim past the life line, not to swim too soon after eating. It tells people unable to swim to keep out of small boats and canoes. It warns that automobile inner tubes, used by some bathers to support them in the water, have caused many drownings.

In conclusion, says the Red Cross, "don't forget that it is much easier and safer to be your own life guard and, if you play safe and use common sense around the water, you will get a great deal of enjoyment out of the greatest and oldest of sports."

The ideal way of getting along will never be realized by the idler.

The least that is said about some things the better, yet there are persons who will keep on talking about them.

It is claimed that there has been a marked decline in the writing of love letters. Men are growing more cautious.

All Of Us

Too Many Words?
Do You Use Them for Wiggling?
It Doesn't Work

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Too much talk.

Altogether too much talk.

Too much faith in the slick and devious ways of the tongue. In words that tumble over each other and half tell the truth and half tell convenient lies—and come, all too willingly, to our rescue when we have gotten ourselves in trouble.

We've made a mistake. We've done the wrong thing. Will we admit our guilt? No, we will not! We plead not guilty, we say, "Let me explain! Give me a chance to tell you how it happened and soon you will see for yourself how guiltless I am, as innocent as a new-born lamb, a pink-eyed rabbit!"

That's what you do.

You nibble at the truth. You trim it and shape it until it fits your own exclusive shape. You work over it until its own Mother Fact wouldn't recognize it. You will not say, "Yes, I did it! Yes, I am guilty! Yes, I was a fool—but I don't know why or how it happened!" You want to be a hero and a blameless honest human being. You want to Wriggle Out and use words to prove that black is white or, at least, a pleasant gray.

How do I know so much?

Well, you're a human being.

How do I know? Well, I've been told that I do it, too . . . I've been told that I have too much faith in words and that I use them to get myself out of trouble that I make for myself . . . I deny it hotly! I swear that I do no such thing, and that when I'm wrong I admit I'm wrong and take my punishment or try to make amends.

But deep down, inside of me, I admit it's true. Too often, I've leaned heavily on words. I've used them badly, I've made them turn over and play dead and perform all kinds of silly, useless tricks. Too often I've sent them into make my excuses when I should have pleaded guilty at once and taken my punishment.

And I'm not going to stand alone and assume that I'm the only one in all the world who puts too much faith in the dictionary and the wagging tongue. If I do it, so do other people. And if I am wrong, so are they.

Isn't that the truth?

THE LITTLE TASKS

The little task asks nothing more
Than tapping at a neighbor's door
And passing in a small bouquet
Of summer blossoms, fresh and gay,
For one upon a bed of pain.
Yet long its memory will remain.

Thought whispered: "Just a mile from here
Lives one who needs a word of cheer.
Five minutes of your time is all
'Twill take to make that promised call.
Turn now and go you friend to see
And long remembered you will be."

The simple tasks, so quickly wrought,
Ask just a little time and thought.
A moment here, a moment there,
Which every mortal has to spare.
But they are cherished when are lost
The glories gained at greater cost.

Occasionally life has need
Of one to do some daring deed,
But every hour of every day
Best lived and honored most are they
Who think to stop where troubles dwell
And do the little tasks so well.

Once Overs

LONELY FOR THE OLD TOWN?

As a former resident of a small town you have grown lonely for the friendliness of the place you left.

The large city seems cold and distant to you.

In the old home town you were a person of some importance, perhaps.

At least you mingled with the best people in the place and they welcomed you at their gatherings.

You feel that you are a decent sort and are entitled to a place among those who ignore you.

Perhaps you have made some effort to become a part of a grade of society to which you think you belong.

Through church affilliation you have met the kind of people you like.

They are courteous to you in church affairs but they do not invite you to their homes.

They have made excuses when you have asked them to be your guests.

Conditions as they exist in a large place are a part of the price you must pay when you seek greater opportunities and increased income.

Unless you are unusual in your line you will have a better time staying in the cosy home town but you voluntarily left the place where you were a good sized toad so don't complain.

Inasmuch as this country is a republic, whatever is the matter with it can be blamed on the people.

Most people want all the trees near their houses as they can get. Trees draw dampness. You will find all the doors and drawers near trees swollen with dampness in the summer time. In the winter the heat dries out the doors and drawers and they work, like they should. Dampness is not good for health. If it is why do people who want to get good health or well from ailments go to the seashore or to Arizona, New Mexico or some other place where there isn't a tree or a blade of grass. They live in tents and the sun beats down on it unmercifully in the daytime. That's our opinion anyhow and we would like to see it successfully disputed.

Stalin Statement Accepted As Soviet's Turning Point

Recognition Of Differences In Earning Capacity And Lifting Of Ban Against More Intelligent Classes Seen As Great Change In Russia

Many Americans read, as the epitaph of communism, the statement by Joseph Stalin, chief of the Russian Soviet, that workers must be paid according to the quality of their work, and that there should be recognition of intellectual ability There is believed to be significance in Stalin's insistence that members of the Communistic party shall not enjoy special privileges.

"The world is fortunate," thinks the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "in having Russia as a great laboratory in which experiments can be tried and applied or tossed into the drain, as would not be possible anywhere else." The Evening News concludes that "people are pretty much alike all over." The SAN JOSE MERCURY HERALD believes that "the recent bid for capitalist favor and the negotiations to borrow money from France look as if Stalin desires friendly relations with capitalist countries, because his interests require them." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS declares: "The whole fabric of Russian life apparently is in for a thorough shake-up. How it works out will be of almost as much interest to the world as to the Russians. However, it will be far more agreeable to watch the process from the outside than from within Russia's borders."

Quoting Russia's "man of steel" as announcing that failure to differentiate between skilled and unskilled workers "causes unskilled workers to lose interest in raising their qualifications," the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE states:: "That fact was recognized in capitalistic nations before Russia came into existence." The TOLEDO BLADE remarks that "Stalin has learned his lesson through experienc, and he has had the courage to change his mind." The SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN finds that "Russia at last admits that any laborer is worthy of his hire." The GARY POST-TRIBUNE is convinced that "an incentive to produce is to be put back into Russian life"; that "it is certain to be effective, but it is also certain to destroy Russian faith in the Bolshevik program."

"Russia will continue to find out what we found out long ago," according to the RUTLAND HERALD, "that there is such a thing as human nature and that human nature is stimulated by the prospect of advancement." The Herald adds that "it is not impossible that the idea of careful planning for long periods of all phases of agriculture and industry will be a real contribution to the rest of the world." The MANCHESTER UNION believes that "chances of ultimate fruition of the five-year plan are greatly improved by this move to give the Russian workers incentive to do their best."

Failure of the Russian experiment is forecast by the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, while the SCHENECTADY GAZETTE, voicing the American view that "ultimately the Soviet idea will crumble," adds that "it is too early to expect the directors of the Soviet Union to yield," that "their power is still too great, but, by concessions here and there, they are strengthening it for the time being." The ST. LOUIS TIMES would "not be surprised soon to hear of fresh conflict between the irreconcilables and the changing Stalin regime," and suspects that "Adam-zad, the bear that walks like a man, is still of undetermined species." The BIRMINGHAM NEWS contends that "it is doubtful if a Soviet establishment can hope to continue where individuals are permitted to prosper."

Advising "calmness in the consideration of foreign affairs," the NEW YORK SUN points out that, from the days of Peter the Great, "inevitably, after a period of agitation the Russian people has fallen again into what may be called the tempo of its life, and neither its most hopeful prophets nor its most alarmed assailants have been sustained." The NEW YORK EVENING POST says: "Soviet Russia is in a state of flux. Communism is in a highly experimental stage. We have no way of telling what will result, and it is not probable that the Communist leaders themselves would in private dare hazard more than a guess as to what will be the economic status of Russia 10 or 20 years from today. But if progress continues along the lines indicated by the new policies sponsored by Lenin and Stalin, the day may come when Communism and Capitalism will find it difficult to discover just what principles they are quarreling about."

"Stalin admits that the Soviet's novel schemes for reforming the world are not so good as the ways which have been worked out by the common sense of generations of mankind," states the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, while the virtual indorsement of the American wage system is seen by the TEXARKANA GAZETTE, and the TORONTO DAILY STAR offers the opinion: "As wealth is produced by the labors of the masses of Russia, the people will insist upon having more and more of the good things of life and become purchasers of goods from abroad." The CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE appraises the situation: "Individualists will find nothing astonishing in the successive changes in Russian policy. Stalin prefers to retreat again rather than to go smash with communism. He reintroduces some of the rewards of private enterprise, the gains which in such liberty are available to persons with ability to take them. If he keeps on his feet he'll come, out with an aristocracy derived from the more pushful proletarians and they for their own protection will dust off the diadem and use it for a new coronation."

Assuming that Stalin "commands his Communists to stay at the unprivileged level of the rest of the people," the DAYTON DAILY NEWS declares: "A government is eventually what the human nature which is its raw material makes of it. If we have special privilege in America it is because those who want it go after it and the rest have not been smart enough to stop them. It will be the same, spite of Stalin, in Russia. If slaves were as smart as masters there would be no slaves."

Referring to "concentration of capital in the hands of the few," the LITTLE ROCK DEMOCRAT says: "We will await with interest Comrade Stalin's decision when he reaches a point where he has to face it." The RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER says: "There must be involved here, in addition to pay according to the work done, the more difficult equation of a proper share for the worker in the intangible values of his production, a field of revenue now largely pre-empted by capital control."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MOUNT VERNON.

Alexander Hamilton would have made George Washington George I, King of the United States of America and if George Washington had possessed a son or two at the time such might have been.

When the modern citizen thinks of the present political condition he may think that the founders of the Republic might have done worse. When he visits Mount Vernon he wonders why George Washington refused to even consider a crown. There is every thing to suggest royalty about the place. It is doubtful if there is a more royaly situated house in this Nation. There is the magnificent broad reaches of the Potomac stretching away from the great river terrace upon which the house was built. There is the suggestion of the vast domain of land over which the First President was lord; of the hundreds of slaves; of the thousands of cattle; of the great flocks of sheep and herds of swine and there is the House itself containing the gifts of Kings and Emperors beside the priceless collection of furnishings. Where, for instance, may be found the duplicates of the scenes which illuminated the mantels of the House? It is a Palace fit for a King.

There is everything in and about the House to suit the most fastidious modern except bathrooms. Where did President and Mrs. Washington and their guests bathe? I asked a noted architect that question and he promptly answered:: "They did not bathe." I asked a little girl the same question and she wanted to know whether I was allowed to visit the atic or not and when I said I was not she said: "Maybe the bath room was up there."

All Reducing Methods The Same In Principle Dr. Clendening Finds

To Slim, Heavy Persons Must Expend More Energy And Eat Foods That Are Not Weight Producing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D

All of the various trick methods of reducing, such as the so-called Hollywood Diet, for instance, as well as all the conservative scientific methods, come down to a few elementary principles. These are:

First, for nutritional purposes the body is a machine. like other machines, there is a definite mathematical ratio between what is taken into the machine in the form of potential energy (food) and what is put out in the form of actual energy (muscular action.)

The body differs from other machines in that it stores excess potential energy in the form of its own tissue (fat).

Second, the great food sources of potential energy are fats and carbohydrates. Carbohydrates are familiarly starches and sugars.

Third, protein has what physiologists call a specific dynamic action in that it appears to activate energy and to produce more energy than its actual weight would indicate.

Thus in losing weight the heavy person must:

First, expend more energy than is taken in for the purpose of using the stored food energy of the body fat.

Second, eat such foods as will furnish energy in the east easily available form.

What are these foods? First, we should eliminate fats. Fats are more important in increasing weight than the sugars which are commonly supposed to be the fat producers. No butter and no cream is a good way to start. Those are the purest and most easily available fats on the average table.

Of course, second, as everyone knows, are the simple sugars—candy, milk, orange juice, granulated sugar, lump sugar, and powdered sugar. The body must have some starches for energy, however, and the best way to furnish these is in the form of green vegetables, fruits and berries. For the next three or four months these are easy to get. The summer time is therefore a good time to begin the reducing performance. You can both exercise more than in the winter and eat more reducing foods. Sample summer foods which added up give a caloric, or energy, value of 1,000 calories—sufficient energy for one day for an adult, are:

One-half grapefruit, medium size	50
Two eggs	150
Three thin slices of toast	150
Average helping cabbage, green beans, asparagus, escalloped spinach, eggplant (each 50)	300
Salad — lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, lemon dressing	50
Two average helping lean meat	200
One baked apple	100
Total calories	1,000

Breakfast, lunch and dinner articles are represented.

Black coffee, tea or beef broth can be taken in any amounts to fill up and keep hunger down.

This diet is severe and should not be continued longer than a week.

Plan To Examine Woman's Body For Traces Of Poison

Body Of Aged Woman Will Undergo Post-Mortem By Ohio Officials

(International News Service)

BRYAN, O., July 16.—A post-mortem examination of the body of Mrs. Abbie Douglas, 85, who was supposedly slain by her grandson in a "mercy murder," was planned by investigators Wednesday following the declaration by Ohio State University chemists that powders said to have been given her contained poison.

Taxidermy powders like those which Theorodre Taylor, 27, her grandson, allegedly confessed placing in his grandmother's coffee, were tested at the university in an attempt to determine whether the state had grounds for complaint against Taylor.

If a trace of poison is found in the aged woman's body, Prosecutor Charles Stahl said, a special session of the grand jury will be called to consider murder charges against Taylor.

Taylor confessed poisoning Mrs. Douglas, according to police, because she was suffering a broken leg and wanted to be "out of the way".

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Here is what one of America's great scientists, whom we retained to study LUCKY STRIKE'S manufacturing process, says about the mellowing effect of Ultra Violet Rays which are included in our exclusive "TOASTING" Process:

"The effects of this ultra violet treatment on the tobacco have been tested and are found to involve an increase in what is called the 'mildness' of the tobacco."

One of America's greatest writers and editors says this:

"When I visited Reidsville and went through the LUCKY STRIKE plant, I found one explanation for the growth of LUCKY STRIKE. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of tobaccos is a splendid example of achievement. It is the new order of the day."

Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America which offers you the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process—that secret heating process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos, and which includes the extra mellowing benefits of modern Ultra Violet Rays. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple". Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

First Big Hike Held By Rentz Y. M. Campers

Boys Don Bathing Suits And Plunge Into Cool Waters Of Creek

By BOB WILKINS
Camp Scribe

The second day of the second week's camping at Rentz "Y" Camp proved to be an eventful one for all concerned, since a big hike was planned.

At the morning chapel exercises, Director Bill Thomas held a discussion on the subject of "Success"; what it means to boys, what success really is and who has been actually successful. Several names were chosen among those who have made a success of their lives. The list includes Edison, Christ, Ford, Mussolini and many others. It was finally decided by the group that success was made up of service for "others" in production of things which they need for necessity's sake and for enjoyment, too.

In the course of the regular games played in the farm morning, sun, which gave proof of a sultry day to come, the Bebras narrowly won from the Panthers in three straight games of volley ball. At the same time the Wolverines and the Minks were battling to shove the Wolverines to victory, resulting in a score of 10-7. The Wildcats bowed their necks to the yoke when the Tigers subjugated them to a 9-1 shutout. In the games played, a spirit of good sportsmanship prevails and no grouching or 'crowing' is ever witnessed on the field of sport. Each one is there just to get the good that can be derived.

In the afternoon, after a strict observance of rest hour, everyone participated in a hike down the creek. When the point of destination was reached bathing suits were donned and 76 boys splashed in the cool inviting waters of the Slippery Rock. Camp Directors Bill Thomas and Hen MacNicholas were in charge. Following the plunge dinner was served "on the spot" in army style with everyone heartily joining.

The purpose of this trip was not only to have an enjoyable time but also to pass several observation tests and nature study requirements. Specimens of all types and descriptions were collected and exhibited. This hike took the place of the regular over-night hike previously anticipated.

A mammoth fire, lighted in the Council Circle, radiated a light far into the depths of the surrounding trees and gave to each fellow-camper a feeling of warmth and security and camp spirit. This enthusiasm was even more marked when nearly four-score voices filled the evening air with the sound of music and song, bounding back and forth in the vast spaces. Jack Elliott entertained the camp with a "spooky" story, "The Gorilla and the Seven Men." Ed Fritz, Jr., related some of his adventures in the Argonne Forest (while in the war) which although the product of his own brain proved to be highly entertaining. Henry (Hen) MacNicholas completed the program by telling Eddie Curine's "Escape From Devil's Island."

Cleveland Man Is Killed In Crash

Word was received here yesterday by Charles P. Walther, of North Walnut street, News employe, of the death of his uncle Donald McCoy, 45, of 12340 Saywell avenue, Cleveland who was instantly killed in an automobile crash two miles east of Chardon Road, Cleveland, in the Willoughby section.

McCoy is known to many people in New Castle having visited here a number of times. J. L. Barnes, chauffeur for Samuel Mather, Cleveland capitalist, who was with McCoy was seriously injured. Blinding headlights forced the machine driven by McCoy to leave the road and it turned over in a ditch.

Funeral services will be held Friday. The victim is a brother of Mrs. Philip Walther, a former resident of this city.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press

NEW YORK, July 16—Bryant Park, behind the New York Public Library, is more than a haven for the homeless at four o'clock of a Summer morning. It is a sharply defined community with a personality of its own.

The benches are nearly all occupied. The veteran floppers sprawl in frank slumber, shoes dangling nearly from the seat slats. Newcomers—those in whom the memory of beds is still fresh—seem to drift together toward the same side of the park: they sit upright dozing, hoping, perhaps to give the impression they are simply feeling the heat and may return home any minute now.

Over near the library a group has built a fire, not because it is cold, but because they want something to do. Question: Where do lady bums sleep at night? And where do women without jobs go when they want to rest? You never see them in the parks.

But Bryant is the Park Ave., as it were of the homeless. The men there are cleaner-looking than the ones in Battery Park, and they appear to be on the point of graduating into jobs tomorrow. They are better dressed. They are more careful to make their benches resemble temporary castles—tourist camps—than merely places to fall, exhausted.

Indeed, the tribe seems more cheerful than a few months ago. Is this a sign?

WITH A FAST CAMERA

Rudy Vallee's $100 a day honeymoon suite at the Ritz in Atlanic City was quite a jump from the $125 a month apartment he occupied with his brother in New York at the peak of his vogue. . .The buzz of excited conversation in the lobby of the St. Moritz the other evening . . .Nobody knew what it was all about, not even the excessively sleek and haughty attendants, who were appalled by the idea of a disturbance. . .Finally it developed that Lupe Velez had claimed she's lost a $6,000 bracelet in the Terrace Club upstairs. . . The Terrace, by the way, is the latest gathering ground of the celebrities. . The old lady in 59th St., nearby, who asked a cop, "What's the trouble? Is a child lost?"

Nobody in the Morning Telegraph editorial room knew precisely what a "stooge" was when the word was changed to "stage" in a reporter's copy. . .Stooge is the theatrical slang for what used to be a "plant" in the audience. . .Phil Baker uses more of them probably, than any other vaudevillian at present. . .They heckle him from all angles of the house.

E. C. Segar, who draws "Popeye" lives in a fantastic comic strip world himself. . .He spends his leisure catching bigger fish than anybody will ever catch and painting wild pictures of cacti in oils. He signs his checks with a symbolic half-stogie. . . .The thirty-one British students and teachers who visited New York as guests of the Carnegie Peace Endowment snubbed the skyline, which they had seen in the movies, and devoted their "ah's" and "oohs" to the speed with which ice cream sodas are dispatched. . .

There is a shoe store in 42nd St. which stays open twenty-four hours a day. . Who buys new dogs at four in the morning, anyway? Maybe tap-dancers. . .And by the way, Vicki Baum, the novelist, amazed Ned Wayburn by becoming a hoofer with a professional form in three weeks, having learned to tap more quickly than anyone who ever was in the Wayburn classes.

ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES

Hacking involves the bitterest competition of any job today. The average paying life of a taxi on the streets of New York is around ten months. After that they are antiquated by newer and gaudier models or worn out with grueling use. Many cabs are kept on the street continuously 24 hours a day by big taxi companies. And there are 18,000 of them—5,000 too many.

The other evening I was surprised to find a package of cigarettes, matches and an evening newspaper clipped to the side of a cab with a special bracket. I asked the driver haw come. He grinned broadly. "Go ahead and enjoy yourself, Jack. I like my fares to have a good time."

Which is another example of the New Courtesy everywhere apparent. The only trouble was, the paper was two days old.

Puzzlers

This is a simple trick, which always causes astonishment. Place a lighted candle on the table, and, about 10 inches in front of it, a bottle. Blow on the bottle from a distance of eight or nine inches and you will extinguish the flame as though there were nothing between it and your breath. The breath divides into two currents on the smooth surface of the bottle, one going right and the other left, rejoining just at the flame of the candle.

BASEBALL TEAM DESIRES GAMES

Troop F nine is desirous of playing games with some local teams. Managers who wish to ararnge games should call 4977-R between 5 and 6 p. m. any day and ask for George. The troop team was recently organized among the guardsmen and their officers.

Sports of all kinds were delightful pastimes and most of those in attendance took part. The sports were in charge of an able committee and never before in the history of the church events has such an ejoyable evening been spent. Swimming was a popular diversion, also.

very delicious dinner was served at 6:30 with places set at long tables in the picnic grounds.

An egg hunt proved one of the most popular games with the children. The eggs had been hidden in all sorts of places around the grounds and the children scampered around to find them. On each egg was written the reward of the finder, money or candy, etc.

A $50,000 Sermon

Wealthy Pastor, Blaming Bankers For Depression, Cancels All Debts Owed Him And Restores Faith In Santa Claus

Dr. William States Jacobs, "Santa Claus preacher" of Houston, Tex.

By SAM JOHNSON
Central Press Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex., July 16.—A Houston preacher has convinced a large Sunday congregation that there really is a Santa Claus!

Dr. William States Jacobs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, in a vitrolic sermon recently accused bankers of the world as being responsible for the present economic ills.

After urging his charges to be more lenient with their debtors, and voicing an appeal in behalf of the needy, Dr. Jacobs tossed a figurative bombshell into his congregation by announcing that he was cancelling all debts owed him, totaling $50,000.

A $50,000 Sermon

"This sermon," he observed, "is costing me $50,000, for I am remitting all debts, some of which were incurred a quarter of a century ago, when I began my pastorate here at this church. I want my debtors to consider their obligations canceled and erased from the book of memory."

Dr. Jacobs said that many of the debts were long since past due, and that 99 per cent of them were owed by persons of difficult financial circumstances. The debts include, he said, personals loans of small amounts, past due notes and mortgages of larger amounts.

Dr. Jacobs had been scheduled to preach a "year of jubilee" sermon. "I couldn't do this—knowing that some of the people who owe me are in distress, and worrying about the defaulted payments—until I had released them from these obligations," he declared.

Urges Generosity

He voiced an eloquent plea that those with wealth be generous at this time toward people in financial distress, and urged that men be considered as of "more value than dollars." Labor, he asserted, which has helped to pile up surpluses for an institution, has some right in that institution.

"Capital is very timid," Dr. Jacobs went on. "It avoids risks. The instant labor does not pay, it wants to cut labor off. But when a worker labors for a bare living wage, and helps pile up surplus of wealth for an institution, he has some rights in it. Put that thought in your pipe and smoke it. You are going to hear it shouted in the not distant future. Labor is not a commodity to be bought and sold."

Scores Bankers

Returning to his attack on bankers who refuse to make loans on good security, Dr. Jacobs declared that such institutions should be closed and a sign: "Permanently Closed" nailed on their doors.

"The government should not allow such banks to operate," he explained. "The money in the banks is loaned to them by the people, mostly without interest, and people who can offer good security are entitled to loans. To shut up the veins of compassion at a time like this, is a sin against humanity, and all of the theologicans cannot convince me that a sin against humanity is not a sin against God.

Hits at Merchants

"As for the merchants, most of them seem to be trying to get along on a cash basis. They are seeking to avoid risk, to get in all the money they can, and to sell without responsibility to anyone. The merchant is a public servant. The time is coming when this selfish idea will collapse. Stores will serve, or close their doors."

Dr. Jacobs came to Houston 25 years ago as a young minister just out of college. Possessing a keen sense of business in addition to ability as a theologian, he practiced economy, saved his earnings, and invested wisely. Now he is rated as a wealthy man, perhaps a millionaire. He has extensive real estate holdings in all parts of Houston, whose population is now 300,000.

More recently Dr. Jacobs announced his intention of giving up his charge and retiring from active duty.

Some of the pastor's debtors were present at the time of Dr. Jacobs' announcement. Their faith in Santa Claus was restored.

Circuit Court Upholds Order On Revocation

Federal Judge Gibson, Sustained By U. S. Court Of Appeals

PENNINGTON'S CASE IS ENDED

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—"When one secretly listens or causes others to listen to a private conversation, he should not complain if it is not complimentary to him."

The United States circuit court of appeals so held today in an opinion affirming the decision and order of Judge R. M. Gibson of the federal district court at Pittsburgh in which he had set aside Prohibition Administrator J. D. Pennington's revocation of permits of the Barr Manufactruing company, Tyrone, Pa., to withdraw denatured alcohol for manufacturing purposes.

No Direct Offense.

The reference to eaves-dropping came as an aftermath to concealment of prohibition agents in a hotel room adjoining that occupied by a representative of the company who allegedly expressed his views of the "assistant administrator".

The opinion read, in part:

"At all events, Barr's personal opinion of the assistant administrator, while offensive to the officer, was not an offense against the national prohibition act, nor was it a ground for the revocation of the company's permits."

Testimony at the hearing was featured by the injection of the conversation allegedly heard by the prohibition agents while they were in a room adjoining that of the company's representatives.

The Barr company is one of the largest manufacturers of toilet articles in Pennsylvania. At the revocation proceedings the prohibition officials charged that some of the company's product had been diverted into illicit hands and re-distilled.

National Guards Lauded By Davis

Senator James J. Davis Inspects National Guard Camp At Mt. Gretna

SOLDIERS STAGE DAILY DRILLING

(International News Service)

CAMP KEMP, Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 16.—Drill in preparation for next week's mimic war again held the attention of National Guardsmen here today as officers polished up on tactics and troops went through maneuvers which will form the basis of attack and defense plans in the combat training.

The 103rd Engineers, under Col. Jackson Study, continued to work on heavy pontoon bridges, theoretically prepared for any army which will cross Lake Duff. Rookies at the National Guard camp were organized in a special class under Lieut. Guy Person and put in their time on basic problems of military drill.

Rifle companies of the 109th and 110th Infantry regiment continued combat marksmanship drills, the realistic targets used to represent an enemy under fire. Special troops of the 28th Division under command of Major James B. Cousart, continued their study of problems of communication and supply.

Guards Are Lauded

Both infanty regiments held regimental parades, following a visit by U. S. Senator James J. Davis, who lauded the work of the National Guard and told officers of the division staff that the state troops were "not only a vital factor in national preparedness but an insurance against war."

Senator Davis's surprise visit to the camp came as the division marked the thirteenth anniversary of its baptism of fire in the World war. He was met by Brig. Gen. Edward Martin, commanding the 109th and 110th infantry and escorted to headquarters of the brigade.

"Such sufficient training as our Pennsylvania troops are receiving here will qualify each man to act on his own initiative in the event he is called upon to do so on the field of battle," Senator Davis said, "the United States hopes the day will never come when our manpower will be called on in warfare. Our nation has no designs on any other nation and in promoting our National Guard encampment it is merely safeguarding its own integrity and existence."

Man Is Killed In Harlem Riot

Porto Ricans And Filipinos Stage Factional Riot—Over Fifty Injured

POLICE FORCED TO USE CLUBS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 16.—One man was shot and killed, two others were taken to hospitals, and more than fifty persons suffered minor injuries when 5,000 Porto Ricans and Filipinos staged a riot in Harlem early today.

Two hundred patrolmen, backed by police emergency squads, were compelled to wade in with clubs to restore order.

Dispute Starts Battle

The outbreak, police were told, had been simmering under the surface for three months past. Ill feeling between the two factions, Porto Rican and Filipino, it was said, had been occasioned by attentions paid by the members of one faction to the other faction's girls.

A dispute in front of a restaurant touched off the explosion, it was said. Some one drew a pistol—a moment later, knives were flashing.

Charles Curaillo, 35, was the man who was killed. He was shot just under the heart.

Jacob Altshuler, was shot through the left hand by Curaillo's slayer. Two men were stabbed.

Sweeping Denial Made By Thomas On All Charges

Final Addresses By Opposing Counsel Will Be Heard By Visiting Trial Judge

YOUNGSTOWN CASE DRAWS ATTENTION

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 16.—Following a complete denial by Ray Thomas, the Mahoning County Prosecutor, of all charges made against him in his sensational blackmail trial, Judge H. W. Jewell, of Delaware county, assigned here, today was to hear the final addresses of opposing counsel before taking the case under consideration.

Judge Jewell announced that he would hand down no decision in the case until ouster proceedings instituted against Thomas as a climax to the utilities situation here are heard beginning next Monday. Judges Jewell, Alfred Mack, of Cincinnati, and Alva J. Pearson, of Cleveland, will sit in the ouster trial.

Sweeping Denial

Testifying in his own behalf, Thomas, the last defense witness, made a sweeping denial of all the damaging testimony introduced into the court record against him by Harry Engle, the deposed traction commissioner, and witness in chief for the prosecution.

Thomas admitted writing the letter to city council charging Engle with attempted blackmail because Engle had denied before him the charges of A. C. Blinn, vice president and general manager of the Ohio Edison Company, that the commissioner was attempting to collect $150,000 on secret contracts for services performed. It was this later "boomeranged" and led to the institution of blackmail charges against Thomas himself.

On cross-examination, Thomas made a vigorous denial that he had ever told the five judges of common pleas court, as they testified in the trial, that he had been retained as counsel by Engle while still serving as county prosecutor. What he did tell them, Thomas said, was that he was "playing along" with Engle in order to gain sufficient evidence against him to lay the case of the railway commissioner before the grand jury.

Refused Audience

The harassed prosecutor testified that he had asked the common pleas court judges many times for an opportunity to explain his actions and that he was consistently refused. He testified that he had attempted to arrange a meeting between Engle and John T. Harrington, official of the Ohio-Edison Company, to settle the demands of Engle. Engle arrived ahead of the appointed time and was shot at by private guards on the Harrington estate, Thomas explained.

When Blinn's law partner showed him the letter later dispatched to council in which Engle was charged by the Ohio-Edison company with attempting to force collection of $150,000 for "services rendered," Thomas said he again tried to arrange an amicable settlement. Engle refused his invitation to appear and named the power company officials who he claimed had been bribing city and county officials. It was then that Thomas wrote the letter which has opened wide the present investigation.

Powerful Sermon In Gospel Tent

Dr. Andrew Johnson, "Kentucky Colonel" Leaves Deep Impression On Congregation

Taking for his text, "He That Covereth His Sin Shall Not Prosper" Dr. Andrew Johnson, the famous Kentucky colonel evangelist, delivered a powerful and impressive sermon Wednesday evening on hidden sin.

He illustrated his sermon with a dummy covered up in a woodpile and frequently during the sermon the colonel would dramatically point to the improvised woodpile in front of the pulpit, exclaiming, "There is sin covered up in the congregation, the nigger in the woodpile, and as the speaker began to explore the contraption he found playing cards, cigarettes, dice, a bottle filled with liquid resembling whisky, and as each was disclosed he condemned the sinful habits represented by them. Finally he dug out the dummy and deputized two church members to remove it from the tent.

"Every community, town and city" he cried, "has sin covered up in the form of graft, theft and social impurity and it must be exposed to the white light of publicity, confessed and forsaken, if the time-honored, great American Institutions continue to prosper."

Rev. H. C. Maitland led the choir in an inspiring, emotion arousing evangelistic song service preceding the sermon.

Several surrounding communities were represented in the audience Wednesday evening.

This evening Dr. Johnson will speak on "The Unpardonable Sin" or "What is the Sin Against the Holy Ghost?"

Report Shows Work Done For School Pupils' Health

Some interesting figures were presented to the New Castle school board Wednesday evening at its regular monthly meeting, showing the work done by the health department of the schools during the past school year. A total of 6371 pupils were examined for physical defects, of which 3100 were reported as normal or having defects not reported for treatment.

Treatment was advised in the case of 3271 pupils, and 1018 pupils received corrections of defects. The school nurses reported 454 group inspections, 4837 advisements of local treatments and 369 visits to homes.

The school dentist reported 1737 examinations and the same number of sittings. Eighty treatments were given, 1458 deciduous extractions made and 61 permanent extractions, with 626 amalgam fillings and 223 cement fillings being made.

The dental hygienist made 8375 examinations, sent 2548 children to the dental clinic with 4621 being sent to the family dentist.

The reports of the various health officials of the schools indicate that a splendid work of preventive medicine and dentistry was done during the year.

Word has been received here that the sartorial note was sounded in officers' dress to be worn at evening mess. SCARED COW DRAGS BOY.

STREATOR, Ill., July 16.—Robert Marcin of Streator, narrowly escaped fatal injuries here recently when he was dragged on the end of a rope by a frightened cow. The lad was leading the animal to pasture, when he stumbled, frightening the cow which began to run. In some manner the rope became twisted about Robert's body and he was dragged some distance before help arrived. He was unconscious and his back was severely cut.

SHOOTING RESULT OF RECENT DISPUTE

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—Gus Buselaki, 38, described by police as a gangster, was shot and killed and two women were wounded, one of them critically today by enemy gunmen. The shooting occured at an oil station here.

Seven other persons standing near the scene of the shooting escaped uninjured.

The gunmen drove into a lot which the station is located and fired with machine guns upon their victims when they were but ten feet away, police said. How many of the assassins were in the automobile was not known. Buselaki was proprietor of the oil station.

The theory that the shooting was the result of a dispute between service car drivers was advanced by police.

Man Seeks Sister, Lost Many Years

Wilkes-Barre Man Continues Search For Missing Sister In This District

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 16.—Separated from his family for the past quarter of a century, John Russell Reilly, of Wilkes-Barre, today continued the search which he begun four years ago for a sister, two years his senior believed living in Western Pennsylvania or Eastern Ohio.

Reilly, who recently discovered that he was the son of a former Pittsburgh coal merchant, John Russel, discovered four years ago at the deathbed of his supposed mother, Mary Reilly, that he had never known his true parents. Since that time he has searched fruitlessly for some one who might have known the members of his family.

Recently Reilly learned that the sister for whom he is searching and himself were both placed in a Philadelphia orphanage by their father, Russell, in 1906. According to Reilly, his grandfather was H. A. Taylor, a former resident of Dubois, Pa.

WHEN MAKING PRESERVES, PUT UP A LITTLE AT A TIME

According to a leading home-economics expert, it is better to make preserves in small quantities frequently, than to put up "a lot" at one time. Cooking in large quantities prevents even cooking, causes the fruit to lose its shape and prolongs the cooking period.

In preserving, remember that refined cane sugar is the recognized standard of housewives all over the country. Now is the time to watch the markets so you can put up your favorite fruits when they are at their peak of goodness. Sugar is at an abnormally low price. Preserve with refined cane sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Chicago "Miracle" Somewhat Ruined

Someone Pulled Down A Window Shade And Recent Reputed "Miracle" Now Fades

MANY THOUSANDS VIEWED SIGHT

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 16—Someone lowered a window shade last night and the "miracle" figure of the Virgin Mary and Babe suddenly lost its wonder which had attracted a crowd of 100,000 persons in a 12-hour period.

The shades were drawn in the home of Peter Genna, once famous ganster, living across the street and 20,000 persons who were still watching the figure went home disillusioned.

The figure had apparently been reflected by a street light from a statue in the Genna home.

Fifty police trying to keep order in the crowd were stoned away and one woman was injured.

Hope To Dispose Of Plant Today

Expect Several Bidders For Chemical Plant Property At Sale This Afternoon

Arrangements have been completed by Receiver John S. Crowl for the Westmoreland Chemical and Color Company, to offer the property at public sale this afternoon.

Mr. Crowl stated this morning that he has had a number of inquiries about the property and hopes to be able to dispose of it when the sale is held this afternoon.

The plant was to have been disposed of at a public sale late in June, but a terrific storm swept over this section of the country on that day, preventing several bidders from reaching the city, and the sale was postponed until today.

Several good prospects have been looking over the property, these parties planning to put the plant in operation if they purchase the holdings.

Suicide—Murder?

When Traugott Keller (above), chief engineer of the Dock Department of New York, was killed by a subway train recently while on his way to testify before investigators probing alleged irregularities in his administration, his death was called suicide without question. Now Robert Hulsert, engaged in catching the same train that killed Keller, claims he saw two men shunt the city official to his death in front of the train.

Kansan, One Time Resident, Classes News "Old Friend"

Asks Renewal To Local Paper; Notes Wheat Yield Big, Prices Low

"We always enjoy The News, and it is just like an old friend coming every day," writes T. C. Gilfillan from his Jetmore, Kan., home in a letter asking that his present subscription be renewed. Mr. Gilfillan formerly lived here.

The letter announces that the largest wheat yield in 15 years is being harvested in Kansas. One ranch alone has 3,000 acres and others are similar in size. Harvesting machines cut and thresh the wheat in oneoperation, it is said, enabling three men to harvest a thousand acres of wheat in three weeks.

While the yield this summer is the largest in years, the price correspondingly has dropped to 28 cents a bushel at the elevator, the lowest in 25 years.

Forgetful Parents Told To Train Children Early In Habits Of Remembering

Constructive Punishment Teaches Youngsters Responsibility, Aiding Memory Psychologist Believes

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

You and I forget. We leave our brief case on the trolley car, our umbrella at the restaurant, our rubbers at the inn. When our children also leave such articles behind, and even forget where they were left, we are annoyed.

But we are inclined to do nothing more about it than to scold. Our conscience may prick us as we remember our own frailties.

Nevertheless we ought to do something to prevent our children from acquiring such distressing habits of forgetting as we have. We can help ourselves, of course, by working hard enough. But we are older and our forgetting habits may be so well established as to persist in spite of our efforts to improve. We little realize their seriousness. Hotels, department stores and transportation services spend a pile of money every year on account of our careless habits. Indirectly all of us must help to pay this bill.

Although there is still hope for us to correct our bad habits, there are greater hopes for us to keep our children from acquiring them.

Let us begin very early with the child. We know he is likely to forget; so let us help him to remember. When, for instance, your three-year-old comes in from play without his hat go help him find it if he can't alone. Whether it is found or not, tell him clearly how long he will be kept indoors from play following the next offense, or choose some other punishment which will surely help him learn to be thoughtful about his hat. Then don't lie. You have an opportunity to train him early in habits and responsibility.

He leaves his rubbers at school. Make him walk right back for them. If he can't get into the schoolhouse give him some concrete reminder other than your tongue. Trust not in it, for it is the most useless thing you can employ.

It is 11 o'clock and Mrs. Collins sees on the desk her daughter's homework in arithmetic. The father has the car; so Mrs. Collins trudges through the sleet and rain to carry Marie's homework to her so she won't be scolded by her teacher. When Mrs. Collins saw that paper of Marie's she should have merely wished that the teacher would make the child's forgetfulness sufficiently uncomfortable that the child would be more thoughtful on the morrow. This failing, Mrs. Collins next time should provide on the girl's return, sufficient punishment to bring results.

Don't carry things after your children; don't be their servants, teaching them the nuisances to other persons and to lose the opportunity to be responsible for their own things.

My boy seven came home directly from school a second evening on which he should have gone to take a music lesson. He was told that on the next failure to go for his music he would have to sit for an hour in a chair doing nothing. He remembered the next two lessons, but forgot the third. Then he served his sentence, which sufficed to keep him thoughtful for the next five weeks.

Why should we do his remembering for him? Why should we rob him of responsibility? Why should we teach him to forget and to be a nuisance? I wish he or someone else had some effective way to cure me as easily of my forgetting similar things. It could be done. But I am forty-five and he is seven.

Grove City Block Damaged By Fire

Warehouse Occupied By Second Hand Auto Concern Is Gutted By Blaze

GROVE CITY, July 16.—Fire last night of unknown origin partially destroyed the warehouse of W. A. Firm. The property is that used for years by Grove City Body Works. The building was used for storage of second-hand cars. The loss is placed at $3,500, partly covered by insurance. Firemen prevented spread of flames to nearby properties.

CHANGE POSTAL HOURS

The Grove City post office is now on a 44-hour week basis. Three substitutes of the office are employed now in order to make possible this program. Postmaster O. H. Firm stated today that every employe of the office was employed on Saturday to handle the mail that the new program may be operative.

As a result of this arrangement local service is curtailed very slightly.

VOTERS MEET

A voters' meeting was held at North Liberty Wednesday evening. Dr. Homer B. Davis, pastor of the First Methodist church of Sharon, and District Attorney Leo McKay were the speakers.

John Holiday was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

LEAD USED ON ROOF

Ten tons of sheet lead is being used in roofing the spire of the memorial chapel at Grove City College, which is rapidly nearing completion. The spire is 100 feet from the ground, 50 feet in height itself. Skilled workers in lead from New York were brought on to complete this job.

The chapel is the nearest to completion of any of the trio of college buildings now being erected.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. ©1931, Carter Medicine Company.

No wonder Women are switching to Camels

The steady increase in the number of women who are switching to Camels is a tribute to the mildness of this cigarette.

A woman's throat is more delicate than a man's—more easily irritated by the unkindly hot smoke of parched, dry-as-dust tobaccos.

Camels are milder, first, because they are a throat-friendly blend of fine Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos that require no parching.

Camels are milder, second, because all peppery dust is removed by a special vacuum-cleaning process before Camels are air-sealed in the Humidor Pack of germ-safe moisture-proof Cellophane.

Camels are milder, third, because this wrapping of moisture-proof Cellophane prevents the cigarettes from drying out. The natural moisture of the tobaccos is held intact.

When you inhale the cool fragrant smoke of a Camel you enjoy all the flavor, all the aroma of blended fine tobaccos kept in prime smoking condition—without the sting and bite-and-burn of stale, dried-out cigarettes.

Just try Camels, join the throng and switch to them for one day, then quit them — if you can.

● Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

Many Visit Cook's Forest Preserves

Cook Forest Is Center Of Interest For Many Pennsylvanians

LOCATED ALONG CLARION RIVER

HARRISBURG, July 16.—The increasing popularity of the Cook State Forest Park, largest stand of big timber maintained for public recreation by the State Department of Forests and Waters, in northwestern Pennsylvania, is evidenced by the unusual numbers of visitors who are making this park the objective point in Penn's Wood's during the tourist season, Lewis E. Staley, the secretary said today.

Peak crowds on week-ends in Cook Park during the high tide of tourist travel average six to ten thousand persons, said Secretary Lewis E. Staley of the department. The attendance of 130,000 visitors during the first season when the park was acquired and placed under State management in 1929, reached 150,000 last year, and present indications are that this number will be greatly exceeded during 1931.

Cook State Forest Park is located along the winding Clarion River in Clarion and Forest counties. The park is about twenty miles north of the Lake-to-Sea highway and may be reached from Brookville over Highway Route 36 and from Clarion by the way of Brookville, or over Route 68 through Leeper.

The park contains several thousand acres and preserves for present and future generations several hundred acres of monarch trees. It is the ideal forest for all lovers of nature who glory in the unspoiled beauties of woodland wealth which nature bountifully supplied, but so little of which remains Secretary Staley pointed out.

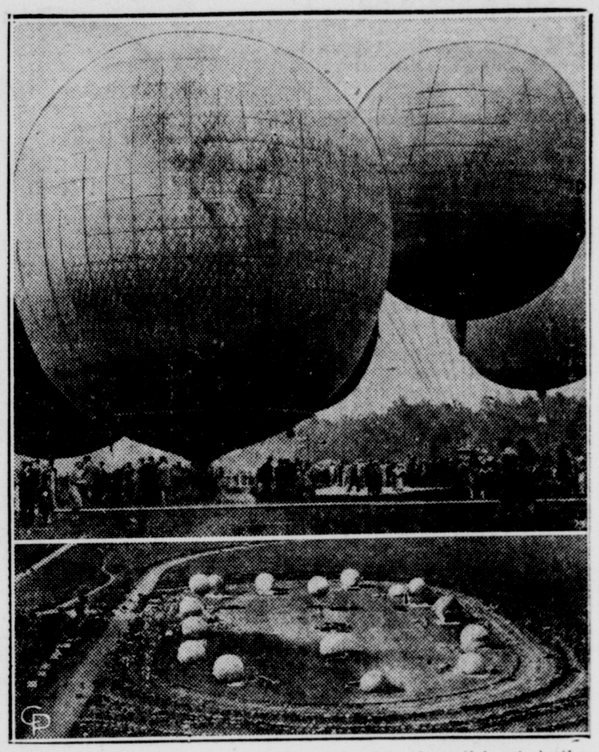

For the convience of the public, parking areas for cars have been cleared and tourist camps established. Fireplaces for cooking have been erected, numerous tables and benches and refuse containers supplied, springs walled and water piped to various points for public use. Bridges have been constructed and guide arrows placed on roads and trails throughout the entire park area. A large open pavillion and a wading pool have been built at the Indian Camp area.

Observation Tower

A popular feature of the park is the 80-foot steel observation tower, erected on Seneca Point. This tower affords commanding views of the countryside below, overlooking Cooksburg village and the picturesque Clarion River valley. The tower is equipped with series of steps and guard rails for safe climbing and has two completely enclosed platforms. A half mile trail leads to the tower site and the tower is connected with the superintendent's office by forest telephone lines. Every precaution is taken against fire.

When the park was taken over by the State the needs of administration, recreation and housing of park personnel received first consideration. With the aid of a competent architect, repairs were made to the administration building, two dwellings and a combined shop and garage, formerly the village post office. The old sawmill building was remodeled into a public shelter accommodating 500 people. All buildings have been painted white and trimmed in green. Two new buildings, have been erected, and several log cabins have been built for tourists rental. Thousands of automobilists use the several tourist camp areas under free permits.

BALLOONISTS COMPETE IN RACE

Four balloons take off from Akron, O., July 19, participants in the national elimination race to determine the U. S. contestants eligible to compete in the international Gordon Bennett races, later in the summer. Ward T. Van Orman, winner of the 1930 international race, automatically has the right to participate this year and with the two balloons traveling the greatest distance in the Akron race will represent the United States in the international competition. Above are two scenes from the 1930 elimination race, which was held at Houston, Tex.

Seven Dead From Poisoned Liquor

Police Officials Find Two More Victims Of Deadly Commercial Alcohol

DRINKING PARTY ENDS FATALLY

(International News Service)

TAMAQUA, Pa., July 16. — Commercial alcohol, containing poisonous chemicals, today had claimed its seventh victim of a group which drank the preparation at a mountain camp near here.

Patrick Slavin, 58, of McAdoo, who was found near the camp where police had previously located two of the poison victims, died in Coaldale State hospital a few hours after James Sweeney, 59, of Mahanoy City, succumbed to alcoholic poisoning.

Previous to the deaths of Slavin and Sweeney, five men had died from the effects of the alcohol, which they had attempted to purify by straining through a cloth.

Electricians Accept Big Cut In Daily Wages

Expected To Prove Stimulus To Business Along That Line

Announcement was made this morning by a representative of the electrical business of the city, that through a wage agreement just reached and signed by the electric contractors and union electricians of the city, that there had been a cut of $2 a day or twenty-five cents an hour in wages paid electricians. The agreement was reached this week between the contractors and representatives of Electrical Workers Union No. 33 after several conferences.

Under the new wage agreement, the electricians will receive $1.12½ cents an hour instead of $1.37½ cents an hour. This is the largest cut in wages of electricians in the history of the electric industry in this city and it is anticipated that it will mean a considerable increase in electrical work in the district.

Sub-Zero Chills Inside "Freezer" Chase Guests Out

Phalanx Group Finds Ice Cream Plant Call Brief Remedy For Heat

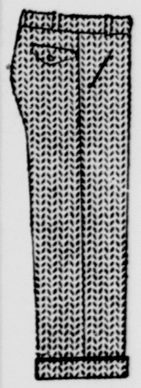

A swim in outdoor waters is cooling on such a night as last night, but a still cooler effect awaits the one who never has visited the frost-coated freezer room of an ice cream plant—the Phalanx fraternity "Y." service group, discovered last night.

In a body the membership paid the local Reick's plant a call as the guests of Manager Thomas Blake. William R. Drevitch escorted the visitors through the building.

The thermometer inside the freezer registered 25 degrees below zero, while outside it hovered to a high point. Needless to say, the freezer visit was but a short one. All operations of the plant were seen.

Changes Made In Pardon Procedure

Modifications Announced By State Board In Session At Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 16.—New rules of procedure for the State Board of Pardons were being scanned by attorneys today. Following modifications announced by the Board in a special session here.

Applications for pardons, commutations or paroles, in future, must set fourth the amount of the attorney's fee and every applicant for hearing must pay a $6 fee whether a hearing is granted or not, under the new rules. Formerly, a $5 fee was charged for applicants but was refunded if a hearing was refused.

Argument in first-degree murder cases will be limited to one half hour, the Board decided, to avoid reiteration which has often characterized hearings because no time limit was set on attorneys appearing to argue.

Another change in the rules provides that lawyers who charge fees which seem excessive to the Board shall be ineligible to appear before it if they refuse to reduce such fees. Otherwise, any lawyer admitted to practice before the State Supreme Court may appear, the Board decided.

Pile Sufferers
Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies do not give quick and permanent relief.

Why cutting does not remove the cause?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins flabby, the parts almost dead?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. It stimulates the circulation in the lower bowel—drives out the thick impure blood, heals and restores the affected parts. This remedy has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of an operation until you have tried a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets. Eckerd's, New Castle Drug Co. guarantees money back if they do not end Piles in any form.

Force Versus Liberty Seen As Battle Issue Of Changing Times

By NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER
President, Columbus University

There is an antagonistic force which is working among us which goes back to before the Magna Charta—the principle of the suppression of liberty based on compulsion. The holders of that principle believe individuals cannot be trusted to make the most of themselves without trampling underfoot the rights of others, and therefore some measure must be introduced to suppress liberty. Russia is an extreme example of this, but there are many others, less extreme.

The fundamental question is, "Who is so wise as to do the compelling?" That would appear a divine attribute, but hardly one entrusted to humans, even to a considerable number of humans added together.

Emphasis is now shifted from politics to economics. Trade and commerce affect the whole civilized world. As these problems become international we find it necessary to adjust ourselves to new modes of thinking, which must be in terms either of liberty or compulsion. It is my confident hope that we shall learn to take advantage of this new movement so that international cooperation will be in terms of liberty.

What we need not lose sight of is that underneath all is a deep-lying contest—the universal one between the principle of compulsion and the principle of liberty.

LOOKING BACK
IN NEW CASTLE

Jack's ice pond recalls fond memories to many persons, who were young men and women twenty-five and thirty years ago. It was one of the centers of interest to the young people of that time, especially in the winter months, when it was frozen over and good skating was afforded them. Located in back of what is now Taylor street and easily accessible from Pearson street, and what is now Florence avenue, it apparently derived its name from the late George Jack, who about that time was the city's leading ice merchant. While it was available for a part of the winter months as a place for skating, there always came a time, when it became a beehive of the ice industry, there being a large ice house, as it was known, where the ice cut from the pond was stored for sale during the summer months. In the summer months it was possible to capture a large catfish now and then and some of the amateur fishermen of those days attempted that sport. It is now no more, due to the fact that it has been filled, having been in the region designated as a dump by the city. It is included in that land given to the city by the late J. J. Dean and designated to be used for public and playground purposes.

May Use Radio In Forest Fire Work

HARRISBURG, July 16—Investigations are being conducted by the bureau of protection of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, regarding the adaptability of radio sets for use in fire observation towers instead of telephones.

The sets for this purpose are of low frequency and the claim of the manufacturers is that they can be effectively used for both transmitting and receiving. Should they prove satisfactory it will mean a great saving in telephone line construction and increased efficiency in reporting forest fires.

Fall Believed On Way To Santa Fe To Serve Sentence

Former Secretary Fall On Way From El Paso, Texas, To Santa Fe, New Mexico

(International News Service)

EL PASO, Texas., July 16.—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, left his home in an automobile Wednesday and was believed to be en route to Santa Fe to start serving his prison term.

It is the first time in recent months he has left the Fall mansion for any purpose before noon, and newspaper men believed he left secretly and ahead of the time he was supposed to leave, in order to evade them.

Members of his family admitted he was not at home and that he left by automobile, but refused to say whether he was en route to Santa Fe.

THE SOURCES OF LATENT HEAT CAUSING EVAPORATION
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

There are two sources of latent heat connected with the process of water evaporation: The first is that energy of the water molecules themselves that is exhausted by its work of getting themselves liberated from the water. Always in that case the body of water becomes reduced in temperature. The other source of energy that becomes latent (not apparent) is the radiant energy coming from the sun. This radiant solar energy is used up in liberating the water molecules on the surface of the water, so that the energy conveyed to the water by solar radiation is expended in the process of evaporation instead of raising the temperature of the water as it otherwise would do.

Revise Court Rules In Mercer County

Bar Committee Completes Task Of Changing Methods Of Court Practise

MERCER, July 16.—Rules of Mercer County Courts are being printed for distribution among the barristers. It is the first re-editing of them in 20 years states Judge J. A. McLaughry who appointed a committee of M. L. McBride of Grove City, R. M. Gilkey of Greenville and Louis Wiesen of Sharon to revamp them.

The late W. W. Moore, Mercer attorney, is stated to have been head of committee responsible for the last editing.

Rules long obsolete have been changed or discarded. As result of the work of this committee it is said that there will be many changes in court practice.

RURAL SCHOOLS CLOSED

In the past ten years 60 rurals schools have been closed in Mercer county reports Superintendent W. M. Johnson. The educator announces the total today at 170.

The closing of ten years seemed to have reached a bottom. For the past three years there have been no additions show the records. When schools average ten in attendance they are automatically closed by the school code.

Only by petition can they be kept open. Rural schools are on the gain now due to the return to the farm of many urbanites driven out by the depression.

ADD TO MAIL SERVICE

Chief Clerk J. C. Mansfield of the postal service has recommended an additional trip out of Mercer connecting at 5 p. m. to connect with Pennsylvania train south at Sharon.

The trip will not only furnish a prompt medium of getting mail into Pittsburgh for delivery that evening but will give Sharon attorneys an opportunity to file late papers for court house officials.

News Of The World As Told In Pictures

The Sport of Kings at Its Best

A clean, spanking breeze billowing out great expanses of white canvas, keels of trim sailing boats splitting the water, expert tillersmen striving to wheel their craft into advantageous position—that's the sport of kings at its best. Here's a picturesque scene as eight graceful yachts bend to the breeze and get underway in one of the spirited races which featured the South Boston Yacht Club meet. Note that five of the boats are near collision and calamity in the right center of the picture.

Exclusive Bailey's Beach Crashed By Eye of Long-Distance Camera

* * * * * * * * *

Resourcefulness of Photography Pierced Wall of Exclusiveness Surrounding Famous Resort of Social Celebrities. Intimate Snap Shots of Elite at Play Taken from Outside "Deadline."

Regarded as the most exclusive playground in the world, Bailey's Beach, at Newport, R. I., has long been looked upon as impregnable by the society "gate-crasher," the news reporter and cameraman. Guarded as it is by its traditional aura of exclusiveness (not to mention armed guards), press photographers are kept to a deadline, where they may only make pictures of celebrities going to and from the resort. Entrance to the beach itself being denied, one could only surmise how these children of fortune disported themselves. But a resourceful photographer hit upon the idea of using a camera with a telescopic lens, and, while not violating in person the treasured seclusion of the resort, now it is possible to secure pictures of the cream of society disporting itself in bathing suits, even as you and I, from outside the pale. Thus, thanks to the traditional slogan of the press, "get the story," old Hoi-polloi may now see how the other half lives. And the beauty of it is that the other half is ignorant that its goings-on are being recorded by the watchful eye of the long-distance camera, until it sees them revealed in the pages of the public press.

Stage and Diamond Wed

Two luminaries of the theatre and the diamond were united in marriage when pretty Mary Lawlor, stage and screen star, wed Lyn Lary, sterling shortstop for the New York Yankees, at St. Malachy's church, New York. Lyn and Mary, shown pleased with the world and each each other just after the ceremony, met at the Yankee stadium after they had been introduced in California where she was appearing in the movies. Lary came to the Yankees two years ago and is one of their mainstays.

Lands in Hospital

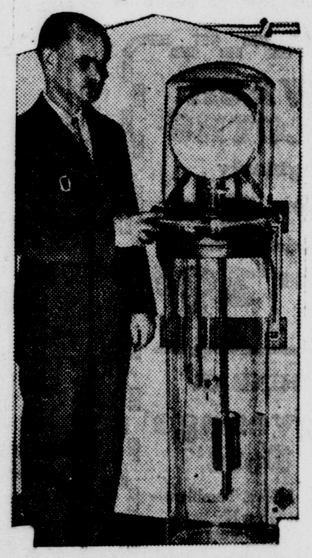

Although pretty Una Kimmey, 22-year-old aerial stunt artist, really did not plan on landing in a hospital when she leaped out of a plane with her parachute over Valley Stream, L. I., that's where she is, nevertheless. Descending from one plane, Una almost landed on another in midair. This maneuver caused her 'chute to become unmanageable and resulted in her forcibly landing on sharp rocks. Next stop—hospital.

Healthiest Girl

Hilda Mae Hall (above), of Eustis, Fla., chosen as the healthiest 4-H Club girl in Florida, will enter the national contest at Chicago in November. An expert swimmer and a skilled golfer, her physical training for the past year has been under the direction of Florence Smock, also of Eustis, who won the State's 4-H Club honors in 1929.

Setting U. S. Time

Like to see where the time for the entire U. S. A. is set? Well, here you are. Lieut. M. M. Dupre, Jr., is shown examining the three Riefler clocks at the U. S. Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C., where the time for all sections of the country is set. The three clocks are soon to be placed in a new clock vault, which will become the time center of the nation.

Troopers Break Up Riot!

This unusual action shot of Rhode Island State troopers breaking up a riot outside the General Fabric Corporation plant in Central Falls, R. I., gives a graphic idea of the trouble which strikers, incited to damage and revolt by "Red" agitators, caused a score of local police and 40 State officers before they could be subdued. Note that the troopers are wearing trench helmets and brandishing their clubs as they keep two of a large crowd of strikers and their sympathizers on the move. Serious riots have taxed the strength of the law enforcement agencies in Central Falls thus far, while additional strikes are threatened.

Sensational Criminal, Freed, Finds Girl Is Wed

Reynolds Forsbrey, Spectacular Jail-Breaker, Released After 19 Years, Thought Sweetheart for Whom He Fled Four Times Was Long Since Dead

MARGARET RYAN and REYNOLDS FORSBREY.

If Reynolds Forsbrey's release on a conditional pardon from Sing Sing prison after 19 years surprised the man who was described as the "nation's most desperate criminal" in his day and who startled the world with four successful, but short-lived, breaks for freedom, he suffered a still greater surprise when he discovered upon gaining his freedom that the girl for whom he made all his escapes and whom he finally gave up as dead is reported alive and married to another. Convicted of murder in 1912, Forsbrey was sentenced to Sing Sing. His career in prison was one spectacular escape after another. He admitted he fled to rejoin his sweetheart, Margaret Ryan, who was always suspected of helping him escape. Finally it was made known to the slippery prisoner that his dream girl was dead. Immediately the flaming desire to escape was smothered and Forsbrey became a contented and quiet inmate. Now, upon his release, it is said Margaret Ryan did not die and that she is wed to another. What fate!

"Red" Shames Sun

The heat of the sun was nothing compared to the fire in the voice of Ann Burlak, 22-year-old "Red Flame" of Communistic radicals, as she exhorted strikers and their sympathizers to violence in the walk-out of employes of the General Fabric Corporation of Central Falls, R. I. Ann, shown here in defiant action, was finally ordered out of town by police. Her departure had a cooling effect upon strike disturbances.

Air Race Beaten by Death

Members of the U. S. Army Medical Corps are shown at Washington, D. C., removing Private Olaf Nelson from the Army's Red Cross ambulance plane into a waiting ambulance after he was flown to Washington from El Paso, Texas, to have two false teeth extracted from his throat at Walter Reed hospital. The 2,000-mile flight to save Nelson from choking to death was made in 24 hours, but the soldier died before surgeons could operate.

All-White Swim Suit

The craze for all white has even invaded the swimming beaches. Lilyan Tashman, screen player, shows the flattering effect of a white flannel swim suit against a tanned skin.

WOMAN FANCIER GETS RARE DOGS

Mrs. J. C. McDowell and "Samoyede" dogs.

Mrs. J. C. McDowell of Los Angeles, famous dog fancier, has just received a number of rare "Samoyedes," native work dogs of the Samoyede peninsula in the Arctic regions of northwest Siberia. They are said to be the purest breed of dogs in the world today, and Mrs. McDowell now has what is believed to be the largest collection in America. They are friendly to man.

Threatens Force

Adolph Hitler (above), fiery Fascist leader of Germany, has declared himself ready to seize power, by force if necessary, to save Germany from Bolshevism in its present economic crisis. Hitler announced that the German people are frantic over the financial chaos and that they're ready for any experiment to save themselves from ruin.

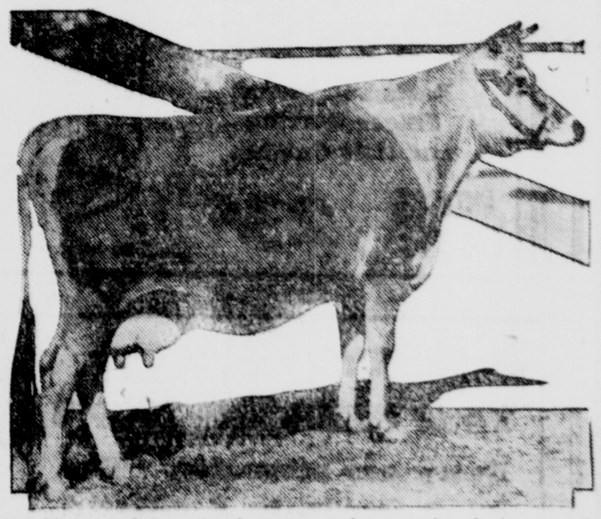

Balks Norway

King Christian of Denmark (above) is disputing the right of Norway to claim the land in eastern Greenland lying between 75.40 and 71.30 degrees north laditude. Norway bases its claim, supported by formal proclamation of King Haakon, on the expedition of Norse youths who planted their country's flag in the disputed territory. Denmark plans to put the matter before The Hague.

Explorers Birthday Guests

George K. Eastman, millionaire kodak manufacturer, is shown at his Rochester, N. Y., home with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, noted explorers, who were his guests on his seventy-seventh birthday recently. It was the third birthday the explorers have spent with Mr. Eastman. Queen of the Dairy

No, this is not the cow that jumped over the moon, but she is a record-breaker for all that. She is Imp Cancalaise, pure-bred Jersey, owned by Carl Tucker, of Fenwood Farm, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., which for the second time in less than three years has broken the existing record for butterfat production. Imp Cancalaise climbed to bovine glory by producing 18,882 pounds of butterfat over a scheduled 365-day period. The champion was bred on the island of Jersey, near the coast of France, and imported to the United States in March, 1926.

Nearly 200 Share Fete Of Store Force At Beach

Trusty Old Sol put the jinx on foxy Jupiter Pluvius yesterday afternoon as nearly 175 employes of the New Castle Dry Goods company, along with a host of friends, treked to Castle beach for their 17th annual store reunion in the out-of-doors. There was no rain to mar the plans and fun was rampant.

Promptly at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, as the store work suspended for the day, a long line of private cars approached the store, were quickly filled and sped with the merrymakers toward Castle beach.

General Chairman S. H. Thompson and his capable committee workers had seen to it that everything would go right, from the very start to finish. Sports and swimming attracted many of the picnickers on arrival, while other stunts for the entertainment of the throng were unreeled as the hours passed.

Dinner Time Comes.

It came dinner time, 5 o'clock and the host made a rush on the dance pavilion, the outdoor aisles of which for the time being became a dining hall. The tables had been arranged along the railing, and no more desirable dinner place could have been asked for. Delicious food and the accompanying fun that goes with a picnic kept the diners busy for some time. Second helpings were ordered and they came.

But time was fleeting and the program still was full, a sports contest and a comic style revue having been scheduled for after dinner.

Sports and Winners.

Miss Dorothy Pregenzer, the chairman of the sports committee, directed the athletic events with the assistance of helpers and supervised the program generally. A number of hotly-contested races were run, the winners receiving appropriate comic prizes in each event. The style show followed the races and was produced in the dance pavilion.

The varied sports events and the winners follow:

Novelty race — Winifred Short first; John Ward, second.

Lemon race—John Ward, first; Winifred Short, second.

Olive race—Clifford Warnock first, Mrs. Stoll second.

Check boys' race—Larry Seeger, first; John Ward, second.

Check girls' race—Doris Santangelo, first; Dorothy McKay, second.

Candle race—John Anderson, first; Mrs. Elsie Pheres, second.

Ball throwing contest—Mrs. Mabel Kneram, first; Mrs. Lena Cox, second.

Style Parade Next.

In the costume style revue, E. A. Free, adorned in a stunning velvet evening gown, was awarded first place by the judges, while Clifford Barr, displaying the 1932 beach togs for men, was second. Judges were E. R. Wolf and J. W. Staudinger, store managers, and Mrs. Jesse Heckart, Nell Leonardson and Mrs. Anna Orend.

William Wallace, Jack Huston and James DeVore provided instrumental music for the models as they appeared before the spectators in their comic outfits, while Miss Pregenzer, director of the event, introduced each model to the audience.

Others participating in the style show were S. H. Thompson, Frank Perry, A. D. Snyder, Mrs. Helen Dix, Mrs. Anna Phillips, Mrs. Elsie Pheres, Betty Kehna, Mrs. Anna Gaul, Mrs. Caroline Richards, Mrs. Bessie Ramsey, Miss Eva Bricker and J. M. Goheen.

Dancing Features.

Following the indoor revue, the employes assembled to be photographed on the pavilion steps. A mushball game between the New Castle Dry Goods employes and the Castle beach employes was a concluding feature, whlie dancing was the chief diversion later in the evening.

Store employes who aided Mr. Thompson in his picnic task in a devoted and capable way were as follows:

Take Success Credit.

Sports—Dorothy Pregenzer, chairman; Mrs. Lillian Edmunds, Mrs Anpa Carr, Mrs. Bertha Miller, J. M. Goheen, Mrs. Helen Perry, Frank Perry and Jack Huston.

Refreshments — Mrs. Prudence Harris, chairman; Mrs. Mary Householder, Mrs. Bertha Stockman, Miss Anna Waddington, Mrs. Nell Leonardson, Mrs. Carrie Gilbert, Miss Nell Ingram, Miss Rena McAnlis, Mrs. Vera Cox, Mrs. Myrtle Miller, Mrs. McMillen, Mrs. Veva Pattison, Andrew J. Weist and Joseph Arnold.

Transportation — Earl A. Free, chairman, and E. S. Warnock.

Publicity—Miss Marjorie Kuhn Miss Erla McCummins and Arthur Lowman.

Yesterday's outing was the 17th annual affair for the local firm, one having been held each year since 1912.

Many Returns For Legion Of Honor Picnic Received

Arrange Transportation For Those Lacking Accommodations To Slippery Rock

Many returns are being received from members of the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory, for the annual picnic which will be held at Slippery Rock Park, south of the town of Slippery Rock, Wednesday, July 22.

It had been previously stated that the picnic was to be held at Etna Springs Park, which is but a short distance away.

Arrangements are being made by the transportation committee, headed by C. C. Sweesy, to take care of all who have no means of transportation, and members of the organization expecting to attend, who do not have cars, are asked to denote this fact on their return cards, giving the number in their families, or to call Chairman Sweesy, phone 113.

Present indications point to a large attendance at the picnic, not only from New Castle, but from the many cities and towns in the surrounding district.

An elaborate program of sports and events is being arranged for the occasion, chief among which will be a golf match for the members, the park boasting of a nine-hole course, among its many attractions.

Members of the organization expecting to attend are asked to send in their return cards immediately so that complete arrangements can be made as soon as possible.

HOT SUMMER, FIGURES SAY
(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 15,—You can get an idea of what a summer's temperature is likely to be if you study the temperature figures for the five months from January to May, inclusive. So Henry E. Hathway, meteorologist in the federal weather bureau office here, calculates that Connecticut at least is to have an abnormally hot summer. Hathaway took records dating back to 1778 to make his forecast, and found that the idea held good in all but one year out of 153. If the average temperature from January to May is above normal, the summer will run above normal also.

YOU see pictured here the first-choice tire of the world — the famous standard Goodyear All-Weather.

Every inch and ounce of it reveals superior quality, yet it sells at no premium in price.

It leads all other tires in sales and popularity, simply because it performs for the man who uses it as no other tire can or does.

As for it being first-choice, you needn't take Goodyear's word for it—that has been settled by millions of car owners like yourself.

A great and unbiased public institution recently completed a nation-wide survey, asking motorists "What tire is best?"

The vote was taken in every state—in cities, towns and on farms, and the answers were not influenced in any way.

As indicated by the vote the preference for Goodyears was nearly 2¼ times that for the second tire, and five times the average preference for all other makes.

This result checks with the known buying habits of the American people, for "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Price is a great inducement in times like these, and despite their higher quality Goodyears sell at prices as low or lower than other makes.

Look at the values quoted here, then ask yourself the simple question: "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

Invention Opens Door By Light

(International News Service)

AURORA, Ill., July 15.—An invention, designed first as a stunt, has turned into practicability for Harry Ainsworth of Aurora.

This invention, which causes a door to open automatically when a beam of light which is focusted on a photo-electric cell in it is interrupted, has been adopted by one of the largest hotels in Chicago for use on doors between kitchen and dining room.

When a waiter passes through the beam of light, the door opens. The door will continue to remain open as long as waiters pass through the beam. It is claimed to be fool proof and will not suddenly close upon a waiter with a tray of food. At the moment it starts to close, if the light waves are interrupted, the door will open again.

Several weeks ago Ainsworth designed a robot to amuse fellow Kiwanis and from this idea he developed the door-opening apparatus.

The robot was so constructed that when the beams of light focused on it were interrupted, a bell would ring and an ellectric sign would appear reading, "You're Late, Ten Cents Please." Upon deposit of the coin, another bell would ring and a sign would appear, reading, "Thank You."

Invents Rubber Fishing Worm

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo., July 15,—A rubber fishing worm, one that wiggles and twists in a life-like manner to fool the fish, is the invention of Earl Cooley, lawyer and former lieutanant governor of Colorado. After months of work and after using hundreds of formulas the "worm" was finally perfected, and the question of mistreatment of angleworms was solved, Cooley declared. Many of Cooley's friends are using the rubber "worm" with success. His method of moulding the rubber is called an innovation and the chemical formula may prove of more value that the fish worm itself.

The "firing" of Uncle Wilbert Robinson, who has been discharged as Brooklyn manager times without number via the typewriter of almost every baseball writer in the land goes on apace despite the fact that the Robins have been playing the best baseball in the National league and threaten to continue to do so.

Why Uncle Wilbert should be fired has always puzzled this correspondent. He has won two pennants in the last 16 years and Connie Mack has been unable to do any better. Only the late Miller Huggins and John McGraw won more flags in that period.

Under Robbie the Brooklyns have never been disgraced with a last-place outfit. For a number of years he has picked up discards and fashioned pennant contenders out of apparently worn-out-players. He stands supreme as a manager who has consistently made winners out of aging pitchers whose worth 15 other major league pilots could not see.

To an outsider, it seems that Uncle Wilbert has done remarkably well for his bosses who are far from notorious as spenders of great sums for new baseball talent.

However, if Uncle Wilbert must be fired that's the Brooklyn club's concern. It's a cinch he wouldn't stay jobless very long unless he chose to remain in retirement for he is one of the most colorful personalities at the helm of a baseball team today.

Robby and Brooklyn have been synonyms in National league stories since 1914. If Robby goes it will be hard for Brooklyn fans to recognize their own ball club without the chubby chief spread out over the bench. They may not like it at all. But that, again is the Robin's own self-imposed hard luck.

The White Sox and Pirates, rumored soon to seek new pilots, could use Robby. Chicago hasn't had a really colorful manager since Kid Gleason departed in 1920, and the Pirates haven't had a personality of Robby's ilk since Hugo Bezdek's days during the war.

If Robby goes Ivan Olson, now a Robin coach and a popular figure with the Flatbush fans, appears to have the inside track as a candidate to succeed him.

Glenn Wright, Brooklyn's captain is another. Though Wright is not believed particularly anxious to add managerial worries to his lot just at present, Robby has entrusted him with much of the guidance of the team on the field, indicating that Wright probably is Robby's own choice if Uncle Wilbert must go.

Still others mentioned are Max Carey and Jimmy Johnston, former Brooklyn stars. Another possibility is Charley Moore, boss of Brooklyn's Hartford farm.

Excellent gentlemen, these and smart baseball men, but none of them are Robinsons.

HUSBAND POOR FIDDLER

(International News Service)

DETROIT, July 16.—A bad husband and a worse violinist was the claim of Mrs. Gladys Prihoda when she won a divorce from her husband, Vasa, in Judge Vincent M. Brennan's court. "He told me he was the great Vava Prihoda, the famous violinist," Mrs. Prihoda told the judge. "Although he always carried a fiddle case, he was no musician. I play the violin myself and I know."

HEAT UPSETS AUTO.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Ill., July 16.—An unidentified motorist passing along the state highway received a novel welcome to this vicinity the other day when the pavement blew up under his automobile. The machine was thrown into the ditch, but after a pause the motorist proceeded with no damage to himself or his car. The intense heat caused the upheaval which spectators said threw the pavement five feet into the air.

Battlers Hope To Score 'K. O.'

Di Muccio Meets Bolan And Gibson Battles Baby Barry

FIVE OTHER BOUTS AT BOWL MONDAY

Joe DiMuccio, the husky featherweight glove-tosser of the South Side believes that Dame Opportunity will pay him a visit when he meets Joe Bolan, Cleveland, Monday night at the Castle Bowl. DiMuccio says that if Bolan toes the scratch the fans will not see him take a backward step.

"I watched Bolan box Ray Ritchie. He is a beautiful boxer but I do not believe he can hit hard. I don't 'go in' for fancy or will I say pink tea fighting but prefer slugging and when the bell rings the fans can expect me to start flinging gloves" said DiMuccio after a hard workout yesterday.

Bolan gave a masterful display of science when he met Ray Ritchie and was clearly entitled to the verdict. However, there was no disgrace for Ray to have lost as Bolan is a former runner-up for the amateur bantamweight championship of the United States.

Bolan and DiMuccio will clash at 126 pounds. DiMuccio has become heavy during the past few weeks but Bolan did not object to giving DiMuccio an extra pound or two. "Let him weigh 126, and no more and I'll 'box his ears,' good and proper," said Bolan to his manager when the match was made.

The DiMuccio-Bolan tilt will not be the only setto of a promising nature when the bowl lights go on. Marshall Couette, the flashy lad who punched holes in Buz Hardy will take on Al Taylor, Lorrain flash. Marshall will weigh 128 and Taylor will come in at 126.

Taylor's last fight was with Louis DiSantis, a very promising pro' at Cleveland. He fought here several years ago and ended the encounter in one round, if recollections serve accurately. It is a safe bet, however, he will not win that easy over Couette as the Frenchman is an alert, foxy youngster.

Sheen vs Pollard

Bill Donnelli the big colored boy who grins continually as he gives and takes almost put Arch Cumo in bed yesterday when Arch was catching punches. Donnelli's right to the stomach wasn't caught properly and Arch's stomach was considerably ruffled.

Donnelli is to fight Joe Levoskey, a 163 pound walloper from Kittanning. It will be Levoskey's first fight here. According to Lou Reddy, Levoskey is a tough, rugged chap who likes to unfurl punches from all angles. Donelli showed he liked this style when he met Homer Gray.

Merle Gibson, the East Side boy who hits hard where he isn't looking believes his style will help him in his bout with Baby Kid Barry, also a member of the Reddy stable at Kittanning. Barry is being tutored by Freddy Boylstein and the clash between the middleweights should be filled with action.

Don Sheen of this city takes on another localite, Ollie Pollard and Billy Mido, New Castle will fight Jackie Ruffner, a Kittanning bantamweight. Billy Frengel and Kid Wright, both of New Castle will clash at 143 pounds. It will be a return bout and indications are someone will hear the birdies twitter.

There hasn't been a fistic show here for about three weeks and as fans are hungry for a sight of sluggers indications are that the seven four round bouts will prove enticing to the fans. The fighters will continue training until the day before the contest.

GOLF for GIRLS

by GLENNA COLLETT

National Golf Champion
Written For Central Press And The New Castle News

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of instructive golf articles written by Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, national champion and America's best known woman golfer, for Central Press Association and New Castle News.

Number Two

In putting I employ only a few essentials. It is not necessary to make an elaborate business of putting. Learn the essentials. Practice them diligently. Never forget them.

Glenna Collett

I hold the club firmly but not tightly. The right hand does the hitting, the left, guiding.

I stand comfortably, rather upright with my feet close together. This gives my arm perfect freedom.

I let the putter rest on the ground in its natural lie, not on its toe or heel. And I let it swing naturally and simply.

My motto is—"look and listen"—with the eyes glued to the ball and the head held steady, long after the ball is hit.

After I hit, I listen. If I have observed the essentials, my ears are usually rewarded with the pleasant, little "plop!" of the ball in the cup.

In the next golf chat I'll tell you how easily you can arrange indoor practice when the weather is bad and when winter prevents you from enjoying out-doors play.

Athletics Win Two More Games

Mackmen Take Double Victory From Detroit Tigers —Hoyt And McDonald Pitch

DODGERS HAND CARDS BEATING

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 16.—Hoyt held Detroit to seven hits, winning his third straight game since becoming a Mackman, as the A's beat the Tigers 5 to 3. McDonald was better, scoring a 11 to 0 shutout with three separate safeties. The double win thrust the Athletics seven games in front in the American League. When Mack can win, without using his ace hurlers, it begins to look as though he'll never be headed or even necked.

The Chicago Cubs, supposed to be utterly collapsed and on the brink of ruin, with reports that Manager Hornsby was to be put on ye old auction block, proved everything was grossly exaggerated by again flopping the New York Giants. They came from behind, Kiki Cuyler reaching for the moon and bringing down one of those blazing singles that scored a tally in the ninth, to decide it, 5 to 4. The Giants are now clinging to second place by the margin of half a game over the Cubs, with Brooklyn in a virtual tie with Chicago.

Dodgers Beat Cards.

Three St. Louis hurlers were bad while William Watson Clark had one of his better days and the Robins won, 10 to 3. Lefty O'Doul, just returned from New Zealand, the down under land of slump, got four blasts.

Sam Byrd, the outfielder the Yankees don't know whether they want or not, cracked a single that won the New Yorkers from Cleveland, 5 to 4. Pipgras got credit for the pitching victory.

An error by Friberg let in two runs and a 4 to 2 triumph for the Pirates over the Phillies. It was the third straight flop for Philadelphia.

Ed Brandt, the Boston Braves' great mound find, tasted a 1 to 0 defeat as John Ogden of the Cincy Reds mastered him, as the saying goes, although the Braves got five hits to Cincy's four. Cullop's fly scored Heathcoate, who tripled.

Oliver doubled in the eleventh, scoring Reeves to make possible a 5 to 4 Boston beating over St. Louis. The Browns took the nightcap 5 to 2 with Blaeholder limited the Red Sox to seven safeties.

Wampum also moved up a little by blanking Brent, 13-0. The games on Wednesday proved close and exciting.

Ole Man River of Tennis

Just as "Ole Man River" keeps rollin' along, William "Big Bill" Tilden, 2nd, keeps on acquiring tennis championships. In his thirty-eighth year, the lanky Philadelphian proved to the tennis world that he was a long way from retirement when he defeated Vincent Richards, defending champion, for the United States professional title, and thereby won his first non-amateur honors in his first attempt. A general view of the Forest Hills, L. I., tennis stadium, depicting Tilden (background) battling Richards, is shown above with the new champ and his shipy trophy in insert.

Motorboat Champ Back Home

Loretta Turnbull, champion outboard motorboat racer, who won international honors in races in Italy, is shown at her home in Monrovia, Calif., surrounded by a few of the handsome trophies she has captured. Taking part in the Eastern Intercollegiate outboard races upon her return from Europe, Loretta was thrown from her speeding craft and severely injured. She'll be several more weeks recuperating.

Boxing received another boom last night at Philadelphia when Kid Chocolate scored a technical knockout over Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion in states, except New York, and annexed the title. Chocolate completely outclassed the rugged titleholder and gave him a terrific beating. It was the first time that Bass had been stopped.

The technical knockout plus that scored by Max Schmeling, heavyweight titleholder over Willie Stribling apparently shows that the fighters have awakened from their spirit of "I don't care" and have come to a realization that they have to show something to interest the fans. The two title changes in almost as many weeks will act as a stimulant to boxing.

And while writing of these fights it may not be amiss to mention that Ross Fields, the rugged southpaw who fought Rodam here recently, held Willie Davies to a draw at East Liverpool, O. According to reports of some who witnessed the fight they thought Ross had won. Fields is coming along at a fast clip.

Primo Ubaldo, the Italian heavyweight, will probably get a chance to show himself here providing the four rounders next Monday night entice a crowd into the bowl. Ubaldo is one of the best to have come from Italy. As he beat Dave McGill in Ireland he also holds the Irish championship. He is a capable opponent for boys like Emmett Rocco and Joe Sekyra.

Peter Patch, owned by A. C. Lord and driven by Will Hodson came out of the east to capture the twenty fourth annual renewal of the $10,000 Exchange club purse for 2:12 trotters at Kalamazoo, Mich. He dropped the first heat to Hollyrood and then took the next two heats. The time was 2:02¼, 2:02¾ and 2:03¾.

Felix Serafin, 26 year old professional from the Scranton Country club won the open golf championship of Pennsylvania with a 72 hole score of 287 over the Flourtown course at Philadelphia. Serafin, a former caddy boy, had consecutive records of 76-70-71-70 in the two days play. He was two under par in the last three trips.

Helene Madison of Seattle, successfully defended her 100 meter and one mile free style titles last night at New York where the annual National A. A. U. swimming and diving championships for women was held. Her time for the 100 meter race was 1 minute 9 2-5 seconds, one second slower than her record. She swam the mile in 24 minutes, 45 seconds, 11 seconds slower than the world's record.

Emmett Rocco is training for his 10 round bout with Tuffy Griffith at Pittsburgh August 3. Rocco and Griffith met at Detroit and Griffith scored a knockout in a few rounds. Jack Dempsey referred the fight. Rocco believes that he may be able to hold the Chicago heavyweight even on the basis of this has signed to fight Charlie Retzlaff at Milwaukee.

Helen Wills Moody, America's net queen and foremost tennis player in the world, opend the campaign for the reclamation of the National championship crown on the Logwood courts at Brookline yesterday. She allowed her title to go by default last year. Wednesday she teamed with Mrs. George Wightman and they defeated Helen and Hilda Boehn, twins, 6-2, 6-1.

Johnny Ray, a former lightweight boxer, has been engaged to tutor Buck McTiernan for his fight with Jimmy Belmont. Ray was engaged, it is reported after it was pointed out that McTiernan needed a tutor. The fact remains that there are many managers, perhaps too many, who do not know the rudiments of boxing yet set themselves up as managers to the detriment of prospects.

Several years ago the managerial end of boxing was discussed by the writer with Jimmy Dime, the ancient tutor and manager. He named about five men whom he called the best teachers in the country. He did not name himself but everybody recognizes him as a good teacher. Jimmy Dunn and Mike Gibbons, were included in Dime's selection.

Scarazzos Will Practice Friday

Al Scarazzo of the Scarazzo baseball team, leaders of the Lawrence County league stated today that his team will practice at Centennial field on Friday night at 6:30 o'clock.

This team has been playing good ball lately and is leading the league with four victories and no defeat. The practice will be staged in preparation for Saturday afternoon when the South Siders play a twin bill, meeting the Hollywood Girls Club in the first game and the Wampum nine in a regular league game in the nightcap.

Political speeches teach us that the atmosphere isn't the only thing that gets thinner with elevation.

Jack Kearns Has Injured Left Arm

Mickey Walker May Enter Ring Against Sharkey Without His Manager

(International News Service)

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., July 16.—Mickey Walker, training here for his bout next Wednesday against Jack Sharkey, may be under a big handicap when he enters the ring. It was learned today that Walker's manager, Jack Kearns, is suffering from an injured left arm and may not be able to be in Walker's corner.

Walker will be host at a barbecue this afternoon after his boxing, entertaining a group of New York friends.

Bookmakers Are Taking Licking

Results At Empire City Race Track Very Bad For Bookmakers

CONSIDERABLE MONEY IS MADE

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 16.—There is no business depression these days at the Empire City race track, where thousands of feverish turf enthusiasts, with huge bankrolls clutched in either hand, are daily giving the bookmakers the beating of their lives.

Racing has been unbelievably formal at the Hilltop course since the summer meeting opened last Saturday. Of the twenty-four races run in four days, no less than nineteen have been won by favorites. Of the remaining five choices, four ran second and one out of the money. Only three winners were long shots.

The oralists had their backs to the wall today with no relief in sight. Four favorites clicked yesterday and Cockrill, the winner of one of the remaining two races, was the choice in the betting until a flood of money on Glenno backed the price on that equine down to 5 to 2 a few minutes before post time.

Nineteen winners out of twenty-four starts is unprecedented. Parlay Pete and the Kentucky Colonel to the contrary and notwithstanding. The average winning percentage of favorites is one out of three.

A flat $100 bet on the choice in each of the twenty-four races would have shown a profit of $2,260.00 for the four days. Multiply this figure by 3,000 or 4,000 and you have some idea of the shellacking taken by the bookies.

When a nation accepts a suggestion in principle, that means it is willing to argue about it.

Shenango Pottery And Scarazzos Tie

Teams Battle To 5-5 Deadlock At Centennial Field Last Night

About 1,500 baseball fans hied their way to Centennial field on Wednesday night to watch two of the best hurlers ever turned out in this city battle when the league leading Scarazzos aggregation and Shenango Pottery battled to a 5-5 tie in a Lawrence County league game.

Paul McCullough who only recently returned from Minneapolis of the American Association and Frank "Jewie" Coen were the hurlers. McCullough with his array of curves, fast balls and what have you looked impressive against the Scarazzos for six innings. Jewie was found for eight scattered blows which resulted in five runs.

The Pottery team deadlocked matters in the second inning after the Scarazzos scored one run. In the fourth frame the Shenango team scored three runs on two bases on balls, two singles by J. Soho and Ostrosky and a double through the pitchers box by Paul McCullough. Despite this bad inning Coen continued his pitching performance in a cool and deliberate manner and struck out Fruitt and Russo to end the inning.

Shenango scored its final run in the sixth inning on two hits and a walk. For six innings the offerings of Paul McCullough fooled the league leaders. In the seventh inning the American Association hurler put himself in a tough situation when the Scarazzos filled the bags when George Byak made a clean hit through first base and Grinnen also came through with his second hit to advance Byak. A minute later McCullough walked Fahey to fill the sacks.

After Picarro struck out cunning Jewie Coen who has seen plenty of baseball followed him to the plate. Coen connected with one of P. McCullough's curves. The hit which was a terrific line drive to center field went to the fence. All three runners came in. A faster runner would have stretched the hit into a homer.

Genock was taken out. James was injected into the contest to pinch hit for Genock. He walked. Alex Black who had been protesting since the first inning that McCullough was pitching off the rubber protested and the umpires ruled in favor of Black and Coen scored. This deadlocked the score. The protest almost caused a riot on the field. The game was delayed for approximately 25 minutes.

Orlando fanned to end the inning. In the eighth inning the Shenango team batted. Rodenbaugh had relieved Coen at the start of the inning for Scarazzos. After the Pottery team batted, the umpires called the game on account of darkness. The score was tie, 5-5.

Grinnen, and Coen were the feature performers for the league leaders while J. Soho and Paul McCullough featured for the Shenango team.

Serafin Captures State Open Title

Scranton Coal Miner-Golfer Wins Pennsylvania Open Golf Championship

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Felix Serafin, popular young Scranton coal miner, today was sitting snugly atop the open golf ranks of this state, the result of stroking his way to victory over a big field in the Pennsylvania state open tourney held here over the Philadelphia Cricket club course.

Serafin, after trailing Audrey Boomer, British-Frenchman, at the end of the first 36 holes by six strokes, turned in some stellar golf in the final half of the 72-hole championship play to top his nearest rival, Ed Dudley of Concord, by three strokes.

The former caddy of the Scranton Country club turned in a card of 141 for his second round after shooting 146 in the first day of play. Serafin held the edge over Dudley by virtue of excellent putting, the Concord entry falling down on his shots near the cup. Boomer finished in a deadlock for third place with 291, Joe Turnesa finishing strong to tie him.

Cleveland To Abandon League Park, One Of Baseball's Historic Spots

LEAGUE PARK—Workers scrubbing seats for one of final series in old Cleveland ball yard.

RIGHT FIELD—For the last time this barrier has served Babe Ruth as a home run target.

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sports Editor

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—For the first time in 30 years the Cleveland Indians will move their encampment.

League Park, ancient gray-green steel and stone structure which sprawls between Lexington avenue and East Sixty-sixth street, is to be abandoned for the magnificent and mammoth new athletic plant which is the Cleveland municipal stadium, built on the shores of Lake Erie.

Just when the Redskins will strike their tent in old League Park and depart that spot, which has served Cleveland clubs since the days of the old Spiders and Naps, depends on the outcome of a current squabble between Cleveland city fathers and the Indian ownership over rental matters.

However, the club has definitely decided to move and League Park is doomed.

League Park doesn't compare with Cleveland stadium in size, appearance and comfort to player and spectator. But League Park has something Cleveland stadium has not yet acquired. That's tradition, tradition built of brilliant deeds, of glorious battles won and lost, of mighty diamond personalities who thrilled fans of long ago.

The passing of an old ball park is something akin to the loss of a valued friend. And League Park, doomed to destruction in its 31st year, was a very good friend to Cleveland baseball fans.

There Cleveland saw its greatest heroes—Pitcher Addie Joss, Infielder Napoleon (Larry) Lajoie and Outfielder Tris Speaker attain baseball immortality. There Cleveland saw its one and only world series, its 1920 team win the world championship from Brooklyn, a 40-year-old dream fulfilled.

There Cleveland saw Bill Wambsganss execute his unassisted triple play, the finest single bit of fielding ever performed in a world series. There Cleveland saw Elmer Flick, Joe Jackson, Roger Peckinpaugh, Steve O'Neil, Joe Birmingham, Vean Gregg, Terry Turner, Charley Jamieson, George Uhle, Wesley Ferrell, Joe Sewell, Glenn Liebhardt, Eddie Morgan, George Stovall, Jim Gagby, Earl Averill, Cy Falkenberg, Harry Hinchman, Elmer Smith, Ray Chapman, Bill Bradley, Dusty Rhoades, Mickey Graney and a host of others rise to stardom.

The diamond enclosed by League Park has been in use by Cleveland teams since 1902. The present stands and other structures which constitute League Park were built and first used in 1910.

At that time the park was one of the show places of baseball. But the passing years saw baseball grow to a big business basis with multi-millionaire owners erecting mammoth new plants such as Yankee stadium, Comiskey Park and other arenas which dwarfed the once proud Cleveland park.

Now the Indians move from one of the smallest baseball plants in the business (League Park's seating capacity is 25,000) to the biggest stadium used regularly by a baseball team.

What will become of League Park remains a question.

The fate of most abandoned ball grounds is to be cut up into building lots for apartment houses and store buildings. And that's not such a bad idea, after all.

Just think, fans, what a break it would be to spend childhood on the exact spot where Walter Johnson, Rube Waddell, Joe Wood, Chief Bender, Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Cy Young, Eddie Plank, Harry Hooper, Ray Schalk, Willie Keeler and scores of other baseball gods performed their legendary deeds!

Ghosts there would be aplenty, but what pleasant, welcome ghosts they'd be!

Bass Knocked Out By Kid Chocolate

Kid Chocolate Wins Junior Lightweight Title By Kayoing Benny Bass

BOUT FOUGHT IN PHILADELPHIA

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Kid Chocolate, ebony fistman from Cuba, is today junior lightweight champion of the world.

By virtue of a seven-round technical knockout victory over Benny Bass of Philadelphia here last night, the Cuban bon bon won the 130-pound title, which is recognized all over but in New York state.

The Kid came close to winning the crown by a clean knockout in the second round when he got in a hard right to the jaw which staggered Bass. Benny manager to snap out of it and finished the round on his feet.

The last session was the "Keed's" big round. It took everything out of the dethroned champion and the rest was easy for Chocolate.

However, Bass did put on a great comeback in the early stages of the third and fourth sessions but was much too wild in his swings. In the fifth Benny's left eye started to bleed, and it gave him more trouble in the following session.

From the fifth round Chocolate apparently knew he had Bass on the run, and rammed his left jabs into Benny's face with ease.

This was the first time Bass was ever stopped during his long career. He entered the ring weighing 128½ pounds, while the new champion was three pounds lighter.

Improved German Outlook Brings Stock Market Change

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 16.—Industrial and Public Utility stock, British and German exchange, foreign government bonds and scattered commodity prices turned definitely upward this morning in recognition of the improved outlook in the German situation. The Railroad stocks were held back by the certainty of unfavorable June reports, to be issued next week, as well as disappointment over the apparently slow process of the freight rate hearing before the I. C. C.

The German mark was quoted nominally at 23.25, against yesterday's closing quote of 21. While little or no business was transacted at this figure, the rise of 225 points in the quoted rate evidenced a more confident feeling in financial circles. The British pound sterling also recovered to 4.84½, while most of the European continental currencies fell off 1 to 8 points.

United States Steel at 93½ showed a recovery of nearly 4 points from yesterday's low price, and an over-night recovery of 1½. American Can moved up 1½ to 103¼. Standard Gas, at the end of the move in the Utilities, advanced 2 points, while Consolidated Gas was in good call at 92, up 1¼. Standard Oil of New Jersey rallied a point to 36⅞; Anaconda a point to 24½. With only 200,000 shares passing through in the first half-hour, and the wheels of trading nearly motionless in the balance of the forenoon, the market was again in a waiting attitude.

A recovery of $1.50, a bale in Cotton was the outstanding feature of Grain was inclined slightly higher. German bonds of the 5½ per cent issue moved up about 3 points in the early trading.

Clemency Asked For Albert Fall

Petition Reaches Washington Asking Executive Clemency For Former Secretary

EXPECT HOOVER TO REFUSE PLEA

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—A telegraphic petition for executive clemency for ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall reached the White House today and was referred, by customary routine, to the department of justice for recommendation back to President Hoover.

The petition was signed by the governor, United States senators and members of the legislature of New Mexico, where, under the court's decision, Fall is to serve a year and a day in the state prison.

There was no indication at the White House of what fate is in store for the petition, but it would greatly surprise Washington if President Hoover interceded with clemency. In his speech dedicating the Harding memorial at Marion, O., last month, President Hoover took pains to denounce those whom he accused of "betraying" President Harding.

Military Funeral For Late Private Being Arranged

Private Olaf Nelson, Sweden, Will Be Buried In Arlington Cemetery

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Private Olaf Nelson, of Fort Bliss, Texas, who died Tuesday following an unsuccessful operation for the removal of two false teeth and gold bridgework from his throat, will be buried with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery here. This announcement was made today when the War Department received a cablegram from Sweden stating Nelson's mother is ill "and to bury him where he resides in America."

Nelson was brought from Texas to Walter Reed Hospital here in an army airplane ambulance. Five operations had been performed upon him since Saturday when he swallowed the dental work when eating. He has expressed a desire to be buried in his native Sweden.

San Francisco Is Chosen By Shriners

Coast City Will Entertain Shriners In Convention In 1932

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, July 16—San Francisco today was selected as the site for the 1932 imperial council sessions of the accident Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The coast city was selected by the council at its last business meeting of the 57th annual convention here. No other city made a formal bid for the convention.

Dates for the 1932 conclave were set for July 26, 27, and 28. A proposal by the time and place committee to postpone selection of the city and time for next year's convention for several months until business conditions become better, was ruled out amid the jeers of scores of Nobles attending the session.

Woodruff Takes Oath, Replacing Charles H. Young

Assumes Office As Member Of Public Service Commission Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 16.—George W. Woodruff, former attorney-general of the commonwealth, today took the oath of office as a member of the Public Service commission, replacing Charles H. Young, of New Castle, whose term expired on July 1.

The new Public Service commissioner served as special counsel for Gov. Gifford Pinchot in the recent legislative probe of utilities in Pennsylvania.

Due to resignation of Commissioner James S. Benn, of Philadelphia, the governor still has one vacancy to fill on the commission.

It was learned from reliable sources today that the governor had intended to name Judson C. Dickerman to the vacancy but was unable to do so because of the provision of the public service law which makes residence for a year previous to appointment mandatory.

During the first Pinchot administration, Dickerman, a native of New England, was brought to Pennsylvania as an engineer for the governor's giant power survey board. When the legislature refused to appropriate additional money for the power survey Dickerman was attached to the engineering staff of the Public Service commission. At the end of the first Pinchot regime he left state service and has since been connected with the Federal Trade commission.

Chicago Youth Waits Sentence

Varner Corry, 15, Youthful Slayer Of Policeman Convicted Of Murder

YOUTH FAILS TO REALIZE CRIME

(International News Service)

CHICAGO July 16.—Varner Corry, a 15 year old school boy, today sat calmly in his cell at the county jail awaiting his sentence for the killing of policeman Edward Smith. Unmoved Varner does not complain for he seemingly does not realize the seriousness of the crime.

Varner, called by his parents and acquaintances a "model youth," came from the home of cultured parents. He was active in boy scouting and had won many awards for efficiency. He was a member of the Y. M. C. A., and had always had the best of environmental conditions. His mother is a teacher in the public schools here.

But when officer Smith surprised Varner together his brother Earl, 13, and Schuyler Pearson 16, while swimming in the John Marshall High School pool after hours, he fired a .22 caliber revolver at the policeman and killed him rather than be reprimanded.

When police arrested Varner and charged him with the crime of murder he registered no emotion and remained unconcerned. He showed no concern throughout the murder trial and proved a puzzle to alienists.

Youth Indifferent

Varner's mother, Mrs. Adeline Jones Corry, had been an art teacher in the Chicago schools. She had selected his books carefully, she said.

The youth remained calm when he re-enacted the shooting at the scene of the crime. Police said he was the most indifferent killer that they had ever encountered.

Judge Joseph Sabath, hoping to find a reason for the boy's listlessness, ordered him examined by eminent psychiatrists.

The alienists reported at the trial that they found Varner not insane or feeble minded, but that his mind bore characteristics "distinctly pathological".

Hospital Program Will Be Speeded

Gigantic Hospital Program Will Be Speeded Up To Aid Unemployment

MANY CONTRACTS HAVE BEEN LET

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Speeding up its work to provide employment during the depression, the veterans administration will complete a $20,500,000 hospital program a year and a half ahead of schedule, it was announced today.

The program voted in the last session of congress, providing for both new hospitals and addition to existing hospitals, was designed for completion by January 1, 1935, but construction chiefs of the bureau now say it is expected to be finished in 1933.

The last projects also have been let under a previous congressional appropriation, with the result that the veterans bureau expects to have 10 or 11 million dollars worth of hospital building under way until the work is completed.

Under the policy of congress of providing hospital facilities for non-service connected cases—a policy which has brought complaint from organizations of American physicians—it is expected that other hospital programs will be authorized in the future.

Congress has appropriated $97,450,000 for veterans hospitals since 1919, with the load of patients increasing as the average age of the World war veterans rises.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 16.—Return of torrid weather to the Pittsburgh district was presaged today with continued rising of thermometers during the night and early morning.

August Roser, 61, who collapsed from the heat last night, was the only prostration reported by police.

(International News Service)

LONGWOOD CRICKET CLUB, BROOKLINE, Mass., July 16.—Two startling upsets were registered in the quarter finals of the women's singles tennis tourney today, with Miss Marjorie Morrill of Boston, seeded number 1, and Miss Dorothy Weisel of Sacramento, Cal., seeded number 2, both going down to defeat.

Miss Mary Greef of Kansas City, playing a very steady game, conquered Miss Morrill, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. Miss Morrill took the second set but Miss Greef maintained a relentless drive to take the third.

Miss Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., furnished the other surprise in defeating Miss Weisel in straight sets, 9-7, 6-4.

Sarah Palfrey of the famous Brookline tennis family, sent Miss Edith Sigourney of Boston down to defeat in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

Camp Phillips' Boys Are Commended Highly; Camp News Notes

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 16.—Boy Scouts now in camp here, a big proud over the personal commendation received by them from Franklin McIntosh, chairman of camping activities for region three Boy Scouts of America, who paid a surprise visit here Wednesday, were today aiming at higher goals.

Mr. McIntosh came to officially inspect the grounds, buildings, equipment and to consult with the camp personnel.

He made it known that camp registrations here are larger than he expected in many other camps this summer. After a coast-to-coast visit of camps he said that never before has he come in contact with such a picturesque and beautiful Indian village arrangement as that of which Camp Phillips may boast. Nine months of his time is spend in California and his transcontinental trips afford his opportunity to call at camps.

After completing his conference with the camp director, LeRoi Norton, Mr. McIntosh left to inspect the Mercer county camp.

Village System Unique.

The Indian village is being run on a different system this season. Each day that a villager is thought to have shown satisfactory interest he receives a feather. At the end of ten days if he has earned ten feathers he becomes a medicine man. Chief Rambo awarded the first feathers last evening at campfire. A scout enters the village as a papoose and may work his way upward.

The swimming period is making a hit with the boys. Many have learned to swim. Last evening five boys received beginners' badges. They are Douds, Young, Davidson, J. Stein and P. Means. Life Guard A. Howard started a junior life saving class Wednesday. Their first instruction was in the strangle holds and ways of breaking them. In this class are Duey, J. Stump, A. Stump, Marquis, C. Mathis, H. Swick, Gustafson, McCreary and Lebinderfer.

These instructions were given in the Narrows. Visitors to the camp were entertained by one of the best programs given here this season. Many kinds of talent were discovered in this program. The program opened with the camp song "Here's To Camp Phillips." A song of welcome was sung to the visitors. The audience was then favored with a cornet solo by Boy Duey. Welden Leonard played two solos on the mouthorgan. Hans Holmes and Jim Stein presented a playlet which had to do with a hard working artist and a fault-finding fish merchant. A dialogue called "Echo Hotel" was put on by members of Hut 9. Bill Pherson took the opportunity given him to spring a few jokes. Duets featuring "Long Long Trail" and "Girl of My Dreams" were sung by Steve Griffiths and John Travers. Gordon Welsh portrayed one side of King Arthur's character in a pantomime. Steve Griffiths played Little Miss Muffett in pantomime form. The four kitchen police rendered a selection on their nose organ. Jim Kirkpatrick told two amusing stories. Another playlet called "The Echo" was put on by J. McClelland, H. Swick and B. McKnight. Howard Swick played a few request saxophone solos. The last number on the program was a cornet solo by Bill McKnight. The program came to a close with the repeating of the scout oath and singing of taps.

Win Hut Banner.

Hut inspection of the day was won by the Lions club hut. They scored 94 per cent. Members of the hut are Bob Duey, Davidson, B. Bush, Hazen and Mathis . This is the second day that the banner has stayed in the Thomson stockade.

Among the many visitors in camp during the day were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Warner. Mrs. R. Wallace of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hamilton, also of New Castle, Mr and Mrs. L. H. McCamic, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pherson of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lebiendorfer of Ellwood, G. W. Hietsch of New Castle, Mrs. R. C. McCaslin and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. D. Means and son William and daughter Evelyn, all of New Wilmington.

Authority was given S. G. Ligo, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds of the New Castle schools, by the school board Wednesday evening, to continue the painting operations at the Aiken school on Pearson street. The walls of the buildings have been painted, for the first time in many years and the transformation is so pleasing that the board now will have the wood work painted also.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Back in 1918, in la belle France, there was a very definite reason why soldiers went around scratching themselves. At that time the well known seam squirrel or shirt panther was a constant friend and companion and when they began to intrench there was only one thing to do, and you did it.

The reasons are varied today. It may be the heat or it may be mosquitos, depending upon where you have been and why. In the case of Ki Aiken it was mosquitos. For a couple of days after he came back from Canada he looked like a statue of Napoleon in action and the cause of it all was a few of those flying tigers they raise up in the country to the north.

Mr. Aiken went to Canada recently for a rest, or to fish or whatever one goes to Canada for, and was quartered in an outdoor camp where the guests slept in tents. Mosquito netting was provided for each guest's bed and at night he was expected to sleep under it.

Unfortunately Ki had the inside of his mosquito netting turned out for a while before going to bed, and when he did get it turned in, about 100 of Canada's finest skeeters were in conference on it. Once in and asleep, Aiken never noticed that the skeeters began to buzz and in the morning when he awoke he looked like an advertisement for a toothache cure.

He still insists that the skeeters up there are about the size of a water spaniel, and that each one of them has a beak like a B flat piccolo.

Our own experience comes from sunburn gathered in gobs week ago at a place called Virginia Beach, near Norfolk, Va. Apparently the sun wasn't out a week ago today, and it seemed an ideal day to lay in the surf and let the combers break over you. Those overcast beach skies are a delusion and by nightfall we looked like a well broiled lobster.

Being a citizen of the East Side now in good standing, and all that sort of thing, the engineer claims the right to be an East Side booster, and when necessary, a critic. And the first criticism is levelled against these early morning gasoline prowlers who sit in cars and toot their horns when hard working citizens are trying to grab off an arm full of sleep.

Living out on the East Side has its responsibilities. Out that way you are expected to keep your lawn looking like a putting green, your flowers and shrubbery well trimmed, and your back yard in order. Nobody ever says a thing about competition but there is keen competition all the time. Sort of a competition of good citizenry, that makes for better homes and a better city.

It's a great neighborhood. Everybody owns his own lawn mower, and hose, and the early evening hours are filled with the whirr of the mower and the swish of the water. Nobody has to offer any prizes to induce an East Sider to keep his place in order, it's part of living out there. And if the folks will bear with us for a while, we'll have the back yard looking like the abode of civilized people, and not the rendezvous of denizens of the forest. It takes time.

For a hot evening's divertissement, we recommend a session with the school board, such as last evening. Sitting there sweltering in the heat, and sucking in the drafts of the electric fan, the boys and girls placed their annual order for coal, a gob of it, 5,000 tons to be accurate, and while they mopped their fevered brows and felt collars going down under the bombardment of the heat, they discussed ash and sulphur content, B. T. U., fusing points or what have you.

There's one place in this well known commonwealth that is due for a visit right soon, and that is Cook's Forest, Pennsylvania's beauty spot up in Clarion and Jefferson County. After listening to Tom Liggett for several years, and after getting the returns from visitors up there, it goes on the list for a visit, and that means before the summer is much older.

Saw a New Mexican license in the city yesterday, and wanted to stop and ask the driver how the weather was out around Three Rivers or Carrizozo. What a place that state must be in the summer. Miles and miles of nothing but greasewood, yucca, and cactus, with the sun getting a fair shot at it all.

One of the secret service department reports seeing a Honolulu license and wants to know if it wouldn't be cheaper to buy a car here in the states than ship one from the island of ukeleles.

And about those ukeleles, did you ever know that over in Nazareth, Pa., they make thousands of ukeleles that are shipped to Hawaii every year, so the lai festooned natives can twang love lyrics about Waikiki Beach and the long low surf on Diamond Head.

EAR-MUFFS NOT ENOUGH.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 16.—Paul Olsen, has endured the ordinary noises of this metropolis uncomplainingly for 49 years, but he couldn't stand the uproar caused by talking pictures at a neighboring open-air theatre so he improvised a pair of home-made ear plugs. But even these have failed to keep out the tormenting sounds. As a result Olsen has brought suit against Joseph Kligler, manager of the theatre, charging him with maintaining a public nuisance.

Maybe the chemist chap who got butterflies to find his lost golf balls for him can tell us what to do with old razor blades.—The Jersey Journal.

Order 5000 Tons Of Coal For City Schools

Approximately 5000 tons of coal were ordered for the New Castle schools Wednesday evening when the regular monthly session of the board was held in the Administration Building on East Street. The successful bidder was U. Z. Sweesy, his price being $3.64 per ton for ¾ inch coal, $3.69 for 1¼ inch coal, $3.34 for nut coal, and $3.04 per ton for slack.

Considerable delay was occasioned in the awarding of the contract due to the uncertain condition of freight rates on coal at the present time. The railroads have a petition before the Interstate Commerce Commission for a fifteen per cent increase in rates, and if this were granted it would add 20 cents per ton to the cost of Pittsburgh coal delivered in New Castle. The bid of Mr. Sweesy was offered with the understanding that the prices above would obtain as long as the present freight rates was in force, but that if an increase were granted, the increase would be added to the price of the coal.

Other Bidders

Other bidders on the coal contract were Clark and Campbell, Home Coal Company, Love Coal Company, Boyles and Milsom, C. J. Streib Company, New Castle Feed and Coal Company, A. Scarazzo, and Maxwell and Gibson. In some bids the proposed fifteen percent increase in coal rates was added to the bid which made the bids just twenty cents per ton higher than that of Sweesy. J. Herbert McIlvenny argued that if the other dealers knew that the board would assume any increases in coal rates that the bid might have been different. This was answered by the statement that every dealer knew of the possible increase and that the board should not be charged with the increase until it actually went into effect, if it was granted.

Albert W. Bauman raised the question why the board did not grant the contract to the Love Coal Company which had a bid on Scott Mine Coal at a price lower than that of Sweesy which was on Rich Hill coal. The answer to this was that the board did not know anything about Scott Mine coal, and that the Rich Hill Coal met the requirements of the board as to ash content, sulphur content, fushion point and the stand of British Thermal Units of heat.

Pennsylvania Coal

The coal ordered is Pennsylvania coal, no West Virginia coal being considered. Under the unfair rates allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, West Virginia coal can be shipped into this district for $1.64 per ton, and Pittsburgh coal at $1.34 per ton. The West Virginia coal has to come 150 miles farther than the Pittsburgh coal but the rates are those set down by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The contract price received is thought to be a fair one. The price per ton is much below that of the retail market but this is explained because of the immense size of the order and the fact that carload lots can be brought in and trucked out to the schools immediately.

Delivery is to be made upon order of the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, S. G. Ligo, and upwards of 1000 tons can be put into the bins within the next month, thus getting the coal at the current price If the new freight rate goes into effect, the board will have saved twenty cents per ton for every ton placed in the bins during the summer months.

AMBULANCE MUST PAY.

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 16—The driver of an ambulance must use reasonable care toward his passenger, even if the ambulance has the right of way through traffic. Such is a decision filed in superior court here by Judge Ernest A. Inglis in deciding a suit brought by a patient who was injured in an accident while enroute to a hospital to be treated for an injury in a previous accident. Judge Inglis gave the plaintiff damages from both the ambulance driver and the car that hit the ambulance.

Itching Toes ?

Burning Feet

If so, you're probably just another of over 10 million U. S. adults suffering with a new foot infection which unchecked quickly spreads to sides and bottom of feet—itching becomes intense.

The popular name for this tormenting disease is Athlete's Foot. You can check the contagious and unbearable misery to-day with Moone's Emerald Oil, a powerfully penetrating and healing antiseptic which Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., and all druggists dispense. Itching instantly stops. After 2 weeks feet in healthy condition again—or money back.

An 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks and there is nothing better for sore, burning, aching feet.

We are quoting this bit of conversation but we'd a lot rather quote you on some Windstorm Insurance! May we? It pays the bill whether your property is merely damaged or totally destroyed.
